Over 200 Hurt In Iran Riots

By PHILIP CLARKE
TEHRAN, Iran—(AP)—At least three persons were killed and more than 200 injured today in a five-hour battle between 5,000 Communists and 2,000 police and troops backed by mobs of Nationalists.

It was the bloodiest violence in Tehran since June, when riots resulted in more than 20 dead.

Police and troops got control after using tear gas, fire hoses, rifle butts and clubs.

An estimated 5,000 pro-Communist students started the heaviest rioting when they marched on the Majlis (Parliament) shortly after dawn, in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations.

Nationalists who support Premier Mohammed Mossadeq engaged in bloody conflict wherever they met the Reds. The Reds shouted "death to Mossadeq" and fought with clubs, stones and fists.

Nationalists smashed and burned Communist "peace" headquarters, raided pro-Communist newspapers and a theater, and dumped bushels of torn and burned propaganda books and leaflets into the streets.

Manistique Resident, F. Heinz, Killed As Car Rams Ogontz Bridge

Death came early today to Frank J. Heinz, 59, retired lumberman of Manistique, when his car crashed into the Ogontz river bridge about on US-2 west of Nahma Junction.

Heinz was hurled from the car to the bridge and the nearly-demolished auto stopped about 70 feet away. The motor was torn loose by the impact and thrown 60 feet from the car. State police of Gladstone who investigated the accident said the Heinz car skidded on frost-slick pavement. He had been in Marquette on an all-day business trip and was returning to his home when the accident occurred at 12:45 a. m.

The car was traveling east swerved across the pavement and hit the concrete abutment on the north side of the bridge. Rebounding from the impact, Heinz was hurled out, and the car continued on for about 70 feet before it stopped, partly across the pavement.

Coroner O. S. Hult of Gladstone said Heinz sustained a broken neck, skull fracture, crushed chest, and fractures of both legs

Allies Make Concessions To Speed Peace In Korea

Primate Freed By Tito Won't Give Up Title

By LYNN HEINZERLING
KRASIC, Yugoslavia — (AP)—Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac grimly asserted his right to the title of archbishop today and said his release from prison changed his situation "only slightly."

The Roman Catholic Primate of Yugoslavia revealed that conditions of his release by Premier Marshal Tito's government included a ban on his performing the duties of an archbishop and confined him to this tiny Croatian village where he was born.

Work Restricted
But Mgr. Stepinac firmly declared today:

"I am the legitimate archbishop and I am not a former archbishop. If the Pope wants it, I am ready to quit my archbishopric, but I will never give it up to government pressure."

(In Rome, Vatican circles took quick exception to the conditions of the Primate's release and declared "no civil authority" could oust him from his place as spiritual head of Yugoslav Catholics.)

Under terms of his release, the archbishop is forbidden to issue pastoral letters, advising his followers on public or personal conduct, or to issue public statements.

He may leave Krasic only with the permission of the Croatian Minister of Interior.

New Car Is Gift
But he will be permitted to preach sermons in church and it is believed he will be completely free to receive any visitors.

He was brought from prison in a new American automobile presented to him, through the Vatican, by U. S. admirers.

The room in which he will live is a simple one, without running water. It contains a bed, a small wardrobe cabinet, a small table and two straight chairs.

Krasic is a typical Croatian farm village, with pigs and geese in noisy possession of its streets, and autumnal heaps of pumpkins piled beside the peasant homes.

Michigan Bell Asked To Remove Phones Listed By Gamblers

DETROIT — (AP)—Michigan Bell Telephone Co. was asked by police today to remove telephones listed in the names of admitted gamblers who registered under the new federal gambling act.

However, Deputy Supt. Kennedy Lawrence said he considered it "very unlikely" that such gamblers would use telephones listed in their own names.

Of the 13 Detroit gamblers who have registered so far only one is listed in the telephone directory.

New Car Prices Going Up Again

By WILLIAM O. VARN
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Higher prices for automobiles can be expected to result from a government order, ready for issuance tonight, authorizing car makers to compute new price ceilings.

The authorization will be another in a series by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) allowing business concerns to recalculate their prices under the Caphart provision of the economic controls law.

OPS cleared the way yesterday for possible price increases on a wide range of consumer items. These include clothing, meat, foods, milk and butter, gasoline, coal, tobacco, drugs, beer and cosmetics.

The agency estimated about 100,000 manufacturers, processors, refiners and mining concerns affected.

The Caphart provision requires that OPS ceilings permit manufacturers to take their pre-Korea prices and add or subtract all cost changes through last July 26 in computing new ceilings. The provision permits increases to a much later date than previously authorized by the price agency.

The auto price adjustment will be the third since the Korean outbreak.

New Volcano Blasts Rock Filipino Isle; 500 Believed Buried

MANILA, Friday — (AP)—Raging Hibok Hibok volcano spewed out a new rain of fiery ashes late Thursday in its fourth major blast in three days. Additional casualties were feared.

By FRANK L. WHITE
MAHINOG, Camiguin Island, Philippines — (AP)—Flaming Hibok Hibok volcano hid its toll of dead today under a smoking blanket of ash which rained for the third successive day on seven burned villages.

So far 209 bodies have been recovered. Official estimates say 500 more probably are buried in a six square mile area covered by lava and volcanic ash.

Struck Down By Ashes
It may be a week before total casualties in Tuesday's eruption are known.

Poisonous fumes rising from molten lava and red hot ash drove search crews from the stricken villages on the charred slopes of Hibok Hibok.

Searchers saw scores of burned bodies in the hot blanket of ashes.

The victims had been struck down by the volcano's deadly rain as they fled.

(A correspondent of the Philippine News Service on Camiguin Island said he saw dogs fighting over burned bodies near one village.)

Terror drove refugees into Mindanao sea, where they stood for hours waiting for rescue.

Coconuts Main Crop
A powdery rain of fine ash fell on the townfolk as they stood in the water. Thousands waited for hours until trucks and buses evacuated them.

Seriously burned villagers were brought here. They are being cared for in an emergency hospital set up by the Red Cross.

Refugees overflowed the school and homes. Half of the houses are built on stilts over the water.

Coconuts are the lure which keeps bringing Filipinos back to Camiguin Island despite the eruptions. Coconut is the sole means of livelihood for many Filipinos.

Plan Submitted For Armistice Area Policing

Communists Balk At Joint Inspection

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
MUNSAN, Korea — (AP)—The Allies today agreed to go along with a Communist demand that only specified points be subject to inspection during a Korean armistice.

The concession was part of a new U. N. eight-point plan for solving the bitter dispute over policing an armistice.

While Allied truce negotiators abandoned their demand for unrestricted behind-the-lines inspections, they insisted that the checks be made by joint Allied-Red teams.

Same Old Argument
The Reds reacted immediately—and unfavorably—to the Allied proposal, said a U. N. spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard Levie.

The Communists want all inspections made by representatives of neutral nations. The U. N. command has not formally rejected this idea.

Levie said the Communist delegates repeated their old argument that the use of joint inspection teams would interfere with the internal affairs of the North Korean people.

Levie emphasized, however, that Allied negotiators did not regard the Red reaction as a rejection of the eight-point program. He said the Communists probably will have more to say when the delegates meet again in Panmunjom at 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EST Thursday).

The Communists conceded one

$40 Limit On Yule Bonuses

Can Meet 1950 Payment, However

There is a limitation or $40 which may be paid to employees in the form of a Christmas or year-end bonus this year, employers were warned today.

The reminder came from William J. Cotty, Marquette, investigator for the U. S. Department of Labor's wage and hour and public contracts division in the Upper Peninsula.

The ceiling applies in cases where no bonus was paid in previous years, or if bonuses did not exceed $40 in previous years. Where a bonus more than $40 was paid in previous years, an extra payment equal to the previous amount may be paid employees.

Regulation Cited

Amendment No. 2 to Regulation 14, in addition to authorizing the permits a company which gave a $40 "new" bonus payments, also week's salary as a Christmas bonus in 1950 to give a week's salary this year even though the workers' weekly earnings may have increased. Previously, Regulation 14 limited the amount of the bonus to the same dollar amount paid last year.

The main factors involved in the amendment were listed by Cotty as follows:

1-It is permissible without board approval to pay up to but not exceeding $40 in a Christmas or year end bonus.

2-This can be paid in turkeys or other gifts plus cash but the total value of the gift and cash should not exceed $40.

3-Where a firm has paid less than $40 in the past they may increase the amount up to but not exceeding the $40 limitation.

4-Of course, where a firm's previous practice was to pay more than $40 in the past they are still permitted to pay whatever bonus was paid in 1950.

5-The $40 limitation is in reality permission for those companies or firms that had no previous bonus experience or had one that paid less than $40.

6-No reports to the board are necessary on action taken under this amendment.

Whitney Heads Mink Breeders

Ranchers Complete Organization

Joseph Whitney, Soo Hill fur rancher, was elected president of the newly organized Upper Michigan Mink Breeders association at a meeting held at the Ford River township hall last night.

Other officers named were: Vice president, Frank Wawirka, Wells; treasurer, Roy Smith, Ford River; and secretary, Frank Bender Jr., Danforth, Gust Soderberg of Escanaba and Joseph Goodman of Kipling were appointed as members of the board.

The association decided to hold monthly meetings in the future.

The breeders discussed the herring run and the progress made in the purchasing of the fish. Association members will buy about 250 tons of herring this year.

A resolution, expressing appreciation to Soderberg for his efforts in helping to form the association, was adopted at the meeting.

Phil Cavarretta, manager of the Chicago Cubs, broke in with the Cubs as a first baseman in 1934 at the age of 18.

Herring Harvest Booms Delta's Fish Industry

Delta county's commercial fishing industry, given new life with the booming herring run, has already passed the 2,000,000 pounds mark with a harvest value to the fishermen of more than $100,000.

The peak of the run is still on and herring fishing is expected to continue for at least a couple more weeks. The market continues firm. Prices have ranged from 4 to 6 cents a pound with the average about 5 cents.

Herring are being taken by Delta county fishermen at ports all the way from Ford River and the south bay shore to Fairport on the Garden Peninsula.

Some From Island

In addition to the revenue directly to the commercial fishermen in the sale of herring, there are additional dollars come to the people of the community in handling, packaging, and shipping the tons of fish taken in local waters.

Beginning yesterday some herring are coming here to market from Washington Island. The small freighter "American Girl" yesterday brought 30,000 pounds of herring to the Jensen & Jensen market, and more trips will be made within the next couple weeks.

Washington Island fishermen, finding Escanaba their nearest market, are shipping herring here on the "American Girl", reviving recollections of an earlier day when most fish and other freight was moved on the bay by boat.

Helps Whole Community Several Washington Island fishermen have moved here with their boats for the herring run, making Escanaba their temporary headquarters.

County Clergy Holds Meeting

Paper Is Presented By Rev. Ringstad

The role that confession can play in relieving the human heart and mind of modern day tensions was discussed in a paper presented by Rev. Johannes Ringstad at the meeting of the Delta County Ministerial association at St. Stephen's church yesterday. Rev. Ringstad is pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church.

The Rev. Otto Steen, pastor of the First Methodist church, presided at the meeting. The devotional period was led by Rev. Joseph S. Dickson, rector of St. Stephen's.

In the paper read to the group, Rev. Ringstad stated that "we cannot ignore the fact that there is a cry for release in the minds and hearts of modern man."

"The Protestant church has been hard of hearing on this point, but it has here a tremendous responsibility and a great opportunity," Rev. Ringstad continued.

He went on to explain in his paper, entitled "Private Confession," published in 1940 in the Journal of Theology of the American Lutheran Conference, that many groups, such as psychiatrists and psychoanalysts, as well as a varied assortment of cults, have been aware of the need for confession.

"The problem of the confession is sin," Rev. Ringstad added. "Our great need is to help people realize what sin is. Martin Luther practiced and taught private confession but it was with counselling and further instruction in mind, not simply with absolution in view. It was confession for the sake of seeing light in God's light."

The Delta County Ministerial association developed plans for a Pre-Lenten rally to be held at 3 Sunday afternoon, Feb. 24, at

TRACY TERRIFIC!

Larry Farrell Finds His Work Fascinating

By CHARLES H. LARSON
LANSING (Special)—Take it from "Larry" Farrell, being the "right hand" of the governor of Michigan is fascinating work—but it is hard.

L. L. FARRELL

"Larry"—to be formal, Lawrence J. Farrell—is the Escanaba man who has been executive secretary to Gov. G. Mennen Williams since the tall, handsome executive with the bow tie became Michigan's state chief in January, 1949.

The "secretary" part of Farrell's official title is a misnomer. Don't get the idea that he takes shorthand dictation from the governor.

Former School Teacher
Farrell is actually an executive assistant or almost assistant governor, although he would be last to consider himself that.

Farrell, former school teacher, salesman, highway department official and state OPA director, keeps the governor's office functioning, administratively speaking.

When the governor is out of town, the former Escanaban handles state matters that need attention. He conducts many interviews with persons when the governor is busy. He is a key man in the many political aspects of the governor's office, making investigations and contacts necessary in naming members of commissions and boards.

While the governor is always "boss", Farrell plays a big part in lining up the governor's week. He sets up meetings with the governor and takes care of details connected with such meetings.

When the governor is tied up on more important matters of state, Farrell frequently represents him at meetings, banquets and the like.

"This is no 40-hour a week job," laughs the soft-spoken, graying native of Dickinson county.

"Gov. Williams is a grand fellow to work for but he is an exacting taskmaster and his stamina and drive are amazing. When he is in Lansing, he works from 9 a. m. until late in the evening, often midnight."

"As a result, he keeps us on the jump. Many of my evenings and even weekends are taken up that way and my family doesn't see much of me."

A Governor's Day

The governor's day starts at 9 a. m. A half hour later, he usually holds a staff meeting at which general problems are discussed with Farrell; Paul Weber, press secretary; Clark Adams, legal advisor; Ed Mead, agricultural advisor; Frank Blackford, administrative aide, and Robert Steadman, controller.

At 10 a. m., comes the first of two daily press conferences at which the governor makes announcements and answers questions of the 10 or 15 capitol newsmen. The second press conference is held at 3 p. m.

The rest of the day is taken up with conferences with other state officials, legislators and public groups. When the legislature is not in session, the governor is constantly in demand to speak at conventions and other gatherings throughout the state.

"The governor attends as many of these functions as he can without interfering with his official duties at the capitol because he feels he can get a better idea of what the people are thinking about and concerned with," said Farrell.

"Such trips can be both pleasant and trying because when he gets back to the capitol he often works beiman. The elder Farrell later was Dickinson county sheriff.

"Larry" was graduated from Iron Mountain high school in 1920 and, after attending Northern State "Normal" for a summer term, he taught at Randville a year.

In the fall of 1921, he entered the University of Michigan, where he stayed until his "money ran out." From 1925 until 1932, he was a representative of National Cash Register company in Escanaba.

In 1932, he joined the state highway department, beginning a career of public service that led to his present position. In addition to his work with the highway department, for which he was chief clerk for the Upper Peninsula, Farrell held key jobs with WPA and OPA before becoming state director of the latter agency in 1946.

Farrell lives with his wife, the former Mary Cobb of Escanaba, in a neat home at 1323 Boston boulevard, in southwest Lansing. A daughter, Sue, is a teacher at Utica. She was graduated from Michigan Normal college at Ypsilanti. A son, John (Pat), is a sophomore at the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Henry Van Mill, Ensign Resident, Dies At Rochester

GLADSTONE—Mrs. Henry Van Mill, 38, of Ensign died at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., Tuesday. She had been confined to St. Francis hospital for some time and was flown to Rochester last Saturday.

The former Capatola R. Menard, she was born in Gladstone. Surviving are her husband; three children, John, 17, Patsy, 14, and Larry, 8; two sisters, Mrs. Clarence Naylor, Gladstone, and Mrs. Carlyle Oberg, Detroit.

The body arrived this morning in Gladstone and was taken to the Kelley funeral home. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Every House Should Be Lighted During The Christmas Season

THE 1951 Christmas lighting contest promises to develop the brightest holiday lighting in Escanaba's history. The enthusiasm among townsfolk, including business and industrial leaders, is considerably greater than ever before and many outstanding displays are already well advanced beyond the planning stage.

There will be plenty of electric power available this Christmas season, the result of unusually high water conditions on the Escanaba river. Also, there are ample supplies of lighting sets and similar decoration paraphernalia this season.

Disarmament Talks Will Not Get Results

THE last time the Big Four met, they could not even agree on an agenda in 14 weeks of futile discussion. There is no reason to believe anything more decisive will emerge from current disarmament talks among the great powers in Paris.

As European observers said of past armistices, "Reduction of armaments implies confidence." Does anyone honestly think confidence exists today between Russia and the West?

The gulf between Western and Soviet disarmament proposals is miles wide. We want all nations to discuss present arms step by step, to accept limitations on atomic weapons and all others, to permit UN inspection of each country to assure compliance.

The Kremlin suggests that the five greatest powers, including Red China, reduce arms by one-third, ban atomic weapons immediately, but do these things without any inspection check.

This plan would give advantage to Russia, as the nation with the largest existing armaments, and would penalize the United States, as the country with the biggest stock of atomic weapons. And it would rest on nothing more substantial than the notoriously untrustworthy word of the Soviet Union.

The Russian scheme is essentially the same as it has been offering throughout the postwar period. The Western plan, framed by the United States, has some new elements, chief among them the idea that the program should proceed by stages—giving each country a chance to measure others' sincerity and performance before going on to a later phase.

Yet it is well known that our proposal was not made with any genuine thought that it would be accepted. It was admittedly presented as a propaganda weapon, to recapture for the West the "peace" initiative held so long by the deceitful Kremlin.

It may have been this much, and if it has it cannot be dismissed as without value. But certainly it has not impressed the Russians as anything but propaganda. Their decision to enter upon new Big Four talks does not indicate they hope seriously to achieve a successful disarmament formula. More than likely it means merely they foresee an opportunity to neutralize whatever propaganda advantage the West may thus far have reaped from its new plan.

Therefore, unless all signs are wrong, the world should here be treated to one more verbal marathon which, while not unrelated to the realities of the cold war, is not likely to affect that struggle materially.

Russia's aggressive ventures in propaganda warfare may make necessary such counter-measures as our own disarmament proposals. But no one in the West should be misled into imagining that these talking bouts are a substitute for a sound policy designed to provide matching power against the Reds' hard strength. Only from such a material balance can arise hope of real peace and realistic disarmament.

Business Folks Are Guests Of Farmers

THE Delta county potato boosters contest which has been held annually every year under the sponsorship of Escanaba businessmen has developed an extremely cordial relationship between farmers of the county and business folks of Escanaba.

After the potato show each year, the farmers are the guests of the Escanaba Rotary club at a meeting in Escanaba. Later the farmers in the Cornell area where many of the outstanding potato growers reside sponsor a party at which the Escanaba businessmen are the guests of honor.

These affairs have resulted in an exceptionally high degree of cordiality between the groups. Even more important, they provide an occasion for business folks to get an understanding of the farmers' problems, and vice versa. It's the kind of arrangement in which everybody benefits. It is a form of democracy in action that is extremely encouraging.

Christmas In The Air By Gordon Martin

When the shopping crowds grow bigger on the bustling avenue, and the windows of the stores present a wondrous sight to view, people seem to change their attitude toward other folks they meet, as they go about their errands on the busy crowded street. There is comradeship and cheerful talk and good will everywhere, for the world is at its brightest when there's Christmas in the air.

When there's Christmas in the air, we wear a smile and not a frown, and the atmosphere of friendliness is all around the town. Where we used to grumble go our way and always in a rush, now we've got the Christmas spirit in the daily traffic crush. For it seems the wintry weather and the tinkle of the bells, never fail to bring the love of which the Christmas story tells.

When there's Christmas in the air, folks sure do undergo a change, and though busier than ever, those they meet are never strange. For we've got the goal in common of a world that strives for peace, and in fervent words we pray that bitter enmity will cease. And if we could have, the year around, such fellowship to share, we would know each day the surging joy of Christmas in the air.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The Navy has taken an unusual stand regarding the air warfare which is getting more and more intense over Korea. It has turned down a request from General Otto Weyland Air Force commander in the Far East, that Navy jets help out the Air Force in combatting Russian MIGs.

With increasing Communist strength in the air, and with the Air Force sometimes badly outnumbered in battling Russian MIGs, general Weyland requested help from the navy's carrier-based jet fighters.

However, despite the fact that there is supposed to be armed services unification, the Navy refused. Official reason was that navy carriers were outside the fighting range.

Air Force officers point out, however, that the Navy used to fly its fighter planes as far north as the Yalu river when there weren't many MIGs in the area; so presumably it could do so again. They also feel that for one branch of the service to refuse help to another branch in wartime—especially when badly outnumbered—is anything but unification. In fact, they use words far less refined.

Air Force pilots who sometimes go into battle against superior Communist odds believe the Navy is trying to hide the fact that its jets are inferior to the MIGs. Since the Navy specializes in fighters, and not long ago boasted the best jet fighter plane in the world, this is a bitter pill to swallow.

Navy pilots today are among the best in the world, but apparently planes haven't kept up with either the Air Force or the enemy. As a result only two MIGs have been shot down by the Navy during the Korean war. One was bagged by a Navy Panther jet some time ago, the other by a Navy pilot who, however, flew an Air Force Sabre jet.

DEBATE OVER McGRATH

President Truman's advisers are split down the seam on a bold move to oust Attorney General Howard McGrath and name crusading Sen. Estes Kefauver to clean up the justice department.

This proposal was pushed backstage by Averell Harriman, who has been on speaking trips out of Washington and knows how deeply the corruption issue is hurting; also by usually cautious White House counsel Charlie Murphy, and younger staff members.

Their arguments with the president is: "The investigations are not going to stop with internal revenue and RFC, but will go into alien property custodian, surplus property, and possibly the federal judiciary right up to the supreme court. The American people won't be satisfied unless the administration cleans house boldly and dramatically. A sure-fire way to regain public confidence is to name Senator Kefauver as attorney general, giving him complete authority to prosecute, no matter who is hurt."

Mr. Truman seems to like the idea and has been saying privately: "I've always been loyal to my friends. But they haven't been fair to me."

On the other side, a powerful White House force, Matt Connelly, who sits next to the president and makes all his appointments, is more than cool. Connelly vigorously defends his fellow Irishman in the justice department and has been digging up political friends of Mr. Truman to talk up McGrath and talk down his ouster.

The decisive factor and still on the fence is the forthright new national Democratic chairman, Frank McKinney. McKinney owes his appointment to Connelly, but agrees with Harriman that corruption is the issue and requires bold steps by the administration.

In a recent talk with President Truman, McKinney told him, in effect: "You don't have any obligation to any official who has been indiscreet or corrupt. They've pulled the rug out from under you."

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

FROM A TOOL TO A ROAD

Some of the words in our language have passed through most interesting changes in meaning. As, for instance, the word "pike," which once meant a tool for digging—the tool we now call "pick"—but which, in America, often means a broad highway between cities.

This transition came through gradual extensions in the use of the original tool, which was probably first a wooden pole sharpened and hardened by fire and used by farmers. In times of war, it served as a lance, used by companies of "pikemen." Then some inventive genius discovered a new use for these sharpened stakes. He mounted a number of them around the sides of a log, and thus made a barrier over which opposing cavalry could not leap. And the barrier could be rolled along to defend an attacking force.

This inspired a later medieval genius to turn the log on end, set it on a pin so that it could rotate, and mount it in a gateway. Again a man mounted on a horse could not pass, and only footmen could enter, one at a time. This and the preceding device were both called "turnpikes," for that is what they were—pikes that could be turned. Our present "turnstile" is a development of the latter.

With the development of toll roads, each of these barriers was found to be most effective in stopping a traveler. When his passage was paid, the turnpike was rolled aside. Thus these toll roads came to be called "turnpike roads," a name that has been retained to the present time, long after the "turning pikes" were replaced by less cumbersome barriers. Naturally, however, "turnpike road" is too much of a mouthful for ordinary speech, and, long ago, the road itself was called "turnpike," a name still used, and, a century or more ago, this, too was further shortened to "pike."

Fault has never been so easy to find that people stopped looking for it.

Light conversation often has plenty of scandal power.

You can get everything but a cold off your chest by telling your friends about it.

Don't Let It Be You

Life of the Party?

Taft Stirs G. O. P. Vote Getting Hopes With His Friendly 'New' Personality

By D. R. WRIGHT and M. J. SAADA

CINCINNATI — A man who hadn't seen Bob Taft since June, 1948, recently walked out of his private office here and remarked to an associate of the senator: "The face was familiar, but I couldn't recall the personality."

To which the associate replied: "Bob hasn't changed his personality. He's simply exposed what's he's had cooped up for so many years."

Robert Alphonso Taft, who wants to be the 34th President of the United States, showed his new self—or his old self uncovered—for the first time during his successful 1950 re-election campaign in Ohio. He abandoned steel-rimmed glasses in favor of the tortoise-shell type. He did his best to soften a harsh nasal twang. He developed a friendly smile and a homey, though still earnest, way of speaking.

The change is a planned one. "I deliberately tried to come up with a more agreeable personality," says the son of the 27th President with disarming frankness. "I want to please people as I go along."

It appears he's meeting with some success. The new Taft surprised and captivated audiences in '50, and his managers hope that with the aid of television he will capture more in '52. One indication of his success is that almost everyone, even his enemies, call him Bob Taft now; two years ago the voters and many of his friends referred to him as Senator Taft, or at least Mr. Taft. Another hint of success lies in the tale of two parties.

No Wallflower Now

Three years ago, a Cincinnati neighbor gave a party for Senator Taft. Midway in the party, the host found his famous guest in a corner all by himself; fame hadn't kept him from being a wallflower. This fall, the same neighbor entertained Bob Taft — to everyone's surprise—he was the life of the party. A little thing, perhaps, but the men around Taft think it's symbolic and significant.

It was less than three years ago that the change began, and Paul Walter, a Cleveland attorney, remembers vividly the night he thinks it started.

"We were all kind of low in the winter before the Dewey debacle," he recalls. "Bob had been pretty well ignored and felt that people didn't like him. There were county chairmen in his own state that actually didn't want to appear on the same program with him for fear he'd spoil their local standing."

"There was even a big debate as to whether he should be invited to talk at the McKinley Day celebration in January, 1949, but he was finally asked. It was a bleak, cold winter day when we came into Youngstown, yet to the amazement of all of us there was a big turnout of people to meet him at the train and at the hotel. I think now it was that night Bob realized in a rush that he was liked by people, all kinds of people. And it's easier to be friendly when you feel you are liked."

His friends say that one trouble with the old Taft—the solemn, dull and aloof Taft—was a feeling in his youth that he wasn't liked. At school he was an active thinker and indefatigable worker. At Yale ('10) he was president of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society, and he graduated from Harvard Law ('13) at the top of his class. But these were the years when his father was in the White House, and while a lot of students pressed friendship because of this Yale classmate recalls also that "a lot of fellows he'd like to have known more intimately shied away just because he was the President's son." Some friends say it took many years for him to escape his father's shadow and forget his shyness.

Grandchildren Call Him "Gop" He hasn't lost it all yet, but once you meet him today both you and he are quickly at ease. Life at the Taft home is both simple and quiet. Friends are often entertained and the senator has a surprising faculty of throwing off cares and being a good host. At a family dinner, with or without guests, the talk seldom if ever turns to politics. As often as not there are grandchildren in the house; they—all nine of them—call grandfather "Gop," an appropriate nickname. Gop, incidentally carries a group snapshot of them in his wallet and passes it around without coaxing. Three of the Taft's four sons are married and when the generations collect, which is often, there is quite a household.

Within his home or wherever among friends there's no trace of the "old" aloof Taft. There, anyway, whatever shyness there was has long been rubbed off by the children and above all by Martha Wheaton Bowers Taft. Mrs. Taft, now recovering from illness, has always had the sparkling personality the senator lacked and she has been a big influence in molding the "new" Taft.

Away from the Senate floor and off the political rostrum, Bob Taft's chief relaxation comes from golf and reading paper-backed, lurid covered detective thrillers. "I may be a lousy politician," he boasts, "but there's nothing wrong with my golf game," which is not too much of an exaggeration since he shoots in the upper eighties. His chief complaint nowadays is that it's hard to find a newstand "tee story he hadn't read. One reason for this is that when he is on a speaking tour he devours them at practically inhuman rate."

Improved Stage Presence

Perhaps it's the relaxation, perhaps it's the studied ease, but whatever it is audiences are getting a glimpse now of the "new" Taft. Taft, that was always visible to his family and friends. At small gatherings, the senator has learned to engage in friendly kidding and take ribbing in return, something unheard of two years ago. In larger gatherings, his stage presence has become more poised and, most amazing of all, he has begun to show a sense of humor.

As proof of the success of his revamped performance, David Ingalls, his chief campaign manager, points to the enthusiasm he's evoked from throngs that have heard him on his current sweep through 15 states in seven weeks. "Bob's improved delivery," Mr. Ingalls explains, "enables him to transmit his personality to big crowds, something he could do only with friends and associates a few years back."

The big question, of course, is, can Taft get to the majority of the country's voters and successfully sell the new personality? His managers think he can, and they have been greatly heartened by his recent television appearances which have brought grudging admission from his opponents that he's telegraphic. But whether the new personality sells or not, everyone agrees that Bob Taft has done quite a job in refurbishing the old model.—Wall Street Journal.

Simplicity - And Faith

Earth turns on its axis and follows its anciently-ordained path around the sun. One can sense a profound rhythm that governs all life on this planet. There is the time of awakening and the placing of seeds in soil, a time of growth and later on there is a time of fruition. And when the harvest is finished and the sun lowers toward the southern horizon, there comes a time of simplicity based on unquestioning faith. For even as man accepts the rhythm of his own heart beat and the seasons that roll in their appointed times, so also must he realize that faith is the foundation of the brief period he spends here, else all is but futility and frustration.

December is not a time of sadness; nor should man feel the gray and frost-bleached land represents cessation of Nature's activities. Without the time of rest, there could not be the miracle of Spring. Days are short and the sun's arc is but a small segment; long shadows run from trees, silos and posts at midday. Dusk drops suddenly and hills and valleys are quickly hidden for the long night. Silence broods over fields and meadows and grasses bend close to the soil. Fall-plowed fields are patterns of brown ribbons; smoke from farmhouses chimneys rises reluctantly and trails slowly away into nothingness.

In the silence of December there is great and fundamental simplicity. Fences, trees and shrubs are clearly revealed; the hardwoods grove is a place of thin sunlight and gray branches silhouetted against gray sky. Among the evergreens, high boughs whisper earth-old secrets and play haunting music. Rough winds whip the land; squalls drive snow and sleet against Earth's bare breast. But he who harvests beauty through the cycling seasons and understands the rhythms that govern our planet is content. For as he sees bare fields waiting for the snow and hears the gathering of the winter flocks, he has faith—faith that when time is fulfilled another resurrection will come.—Haydn Pearson

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

GOOD CONVERSATION — While our experience in meeting people engaged in the creative arts has not been wide, we nevertheless have met enough of them to advise amateurs on the best method of polite conversation with writers, artists, musicians and dancers.

Writers are placed first on the list because there are more of them, and dancers last because that is the group we know the least about.

We feel the advice we have to offer is important because many people have told me: "I'm always tongue tied when I meet a writer or an artist."

To immediately generalize, let's advise you that writers, artists, dancers, et al, are just like other people. They are primarily interested in themselves.

As one writer told me, after a lengthy conversation about his latest published work:

"But that's enough about me — let's talk about you for awhile. Tell me, what do you think of the way I handled the characterization in my novel?"

INTELLIGENCE RATING—It is not too difficult to win for yourself a writer's accolade as an intelligent and discriminating person.

If he has published anything just casually mention that you think the publisher should have given his work a little more promotion. All writers consider all publishers stupid beyond the point of initial recognition of the writer's genius.

Do not, unless you are prepared to spend a dull two or three hours, begin a discussion of his book; and never ask him to tell you about what he is working on at the moment. You will either receive a frozen silence if he is the kind who does not discuss work in progress, or daily communiques and scribbled notes if he is the confiding type.

SAFEST APPROACH — Painters, unlike writers, usually are charitable and will speak approvingly of the work of fellow artists. It is safe, therefore, to mention pictures painted by another.

Of the artist's own paintings it is best to stick to generalities and be honest in your reaction.

If you like the painting, say so: If you do not like it, do not say so. Just step back several paces for a better look and keep quiet. The artist will interpret your silence as appreciation and, if pressed, you can always report that it has good color.

Should the picture be in black and white, remark on its composition, its mood, its feeling.

And do not ask artists if they have sold anything. They paint to express themselves, not to please prospective purchasers. Do not ask to buy an artist's picture without first settling the price question. Most painters place a value on their pictures higher than the quality or quantity that meets the eye.

YOU MUST KNOW—Musicians are the most difficult to talk to about their profession because they know so much more about music than you do.

They are not too much interested in discussing music even with other musicians. A safe topic of conversation is the weather.

Composer—musicians are little better. If they have composed a piece that is popular, they feel there must be something wrong with it; if the public ignores it, it must have elements of greatness yet to be discovered.

Again, unless you know music well, talk to your musician about anything but music. And never ask them to play for you. It is unnecessary.

ON WITH THE DANCE—We have met few professional dancers and talked with them very little.

We are not qualified, therefore, to tell you how to make conversation. Having tried it (and failed) with those we have met, we suggest the dancers live in a world of their own.

Their excellent muscular coordination does not extend to the vocal cords, however, and you feel they could express themselves better with some intricate footwork or a twitch of the hip.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Frank V. Greenlaw, 81, who conducted a ready-to-wear shop in Escanaba many years, died at his home in Oshkosh, Wis.

Escanaba—This port shipped 5.69 per cent of the iron ore tonnage from the Lake Superior region this season. Marquette shipped 7.07 per cent.

Escanaba—Ralph D. Hult, one of the survivors of the Zam Zam sinking, will return to Africa in the near future to resume missionary work.

Gladstone—Conan E. Fisher was elected worshipful master of the Gladstone lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons.

Manistiquie — Jack Leonard of Manistiquie won the big buck contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

20 YEARS AGO

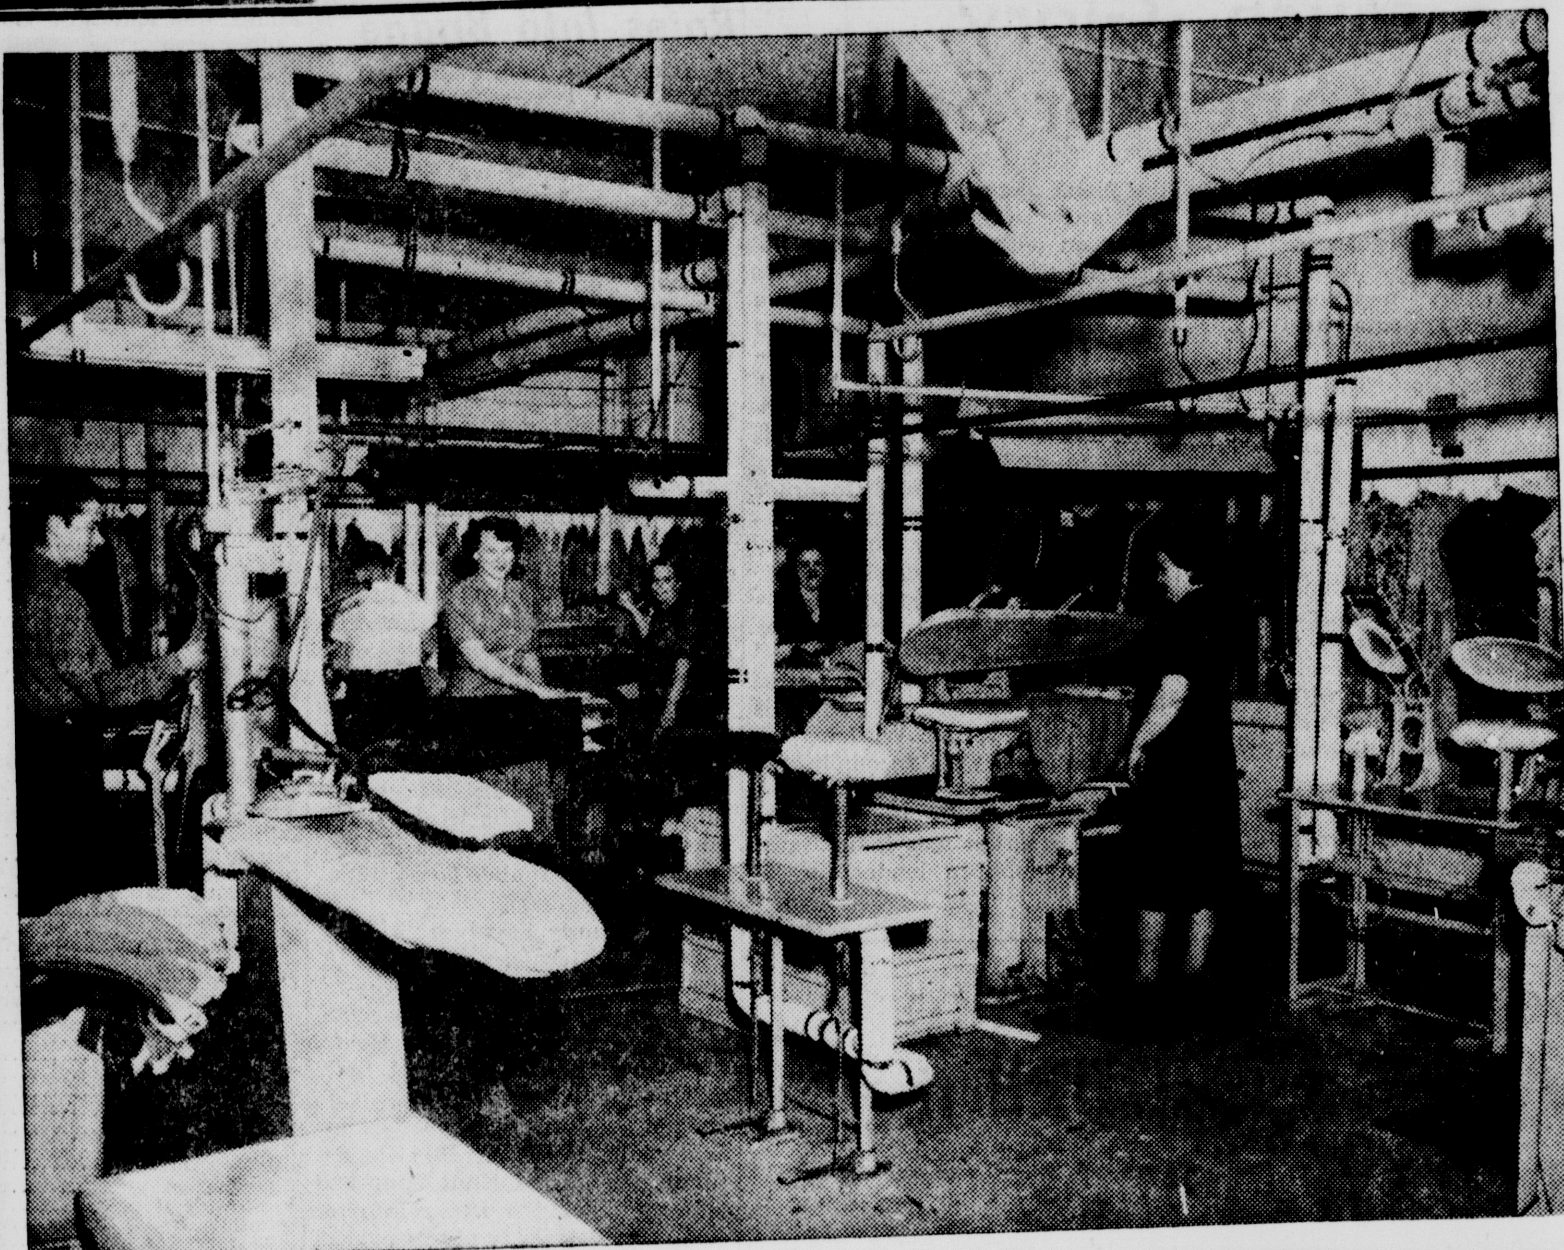

Kalamazoo—An attempt to solve a considerable part of the periodically occurring problem of unemployment through the establishment of a large community farm was announced by Dr. William E. Upjohn, president of the Upjohn company and former mayor of Kalamazoo.

Gladstone—F. Robert Buechner, Gladstone city manager, was elected worshipful master of the F. & A. M. lodge of Gladstone.

Escanaba—John P. McColl, 80, a resident of Delta county 60 years, died at his home, 404 South Seventh street, Monday morning. He operated charcoal kilns at Kate's Bay in the eighties. He operated the Delta Title & Loan company in Escanaba for many years. He also served as county clerk for a few terms.

Montreal—The International Paper company today announced a reduction in the price of newsprint for 1952 to $53 a ton in New York and Chicago. The price is $4 below the previous level in the northern zone.

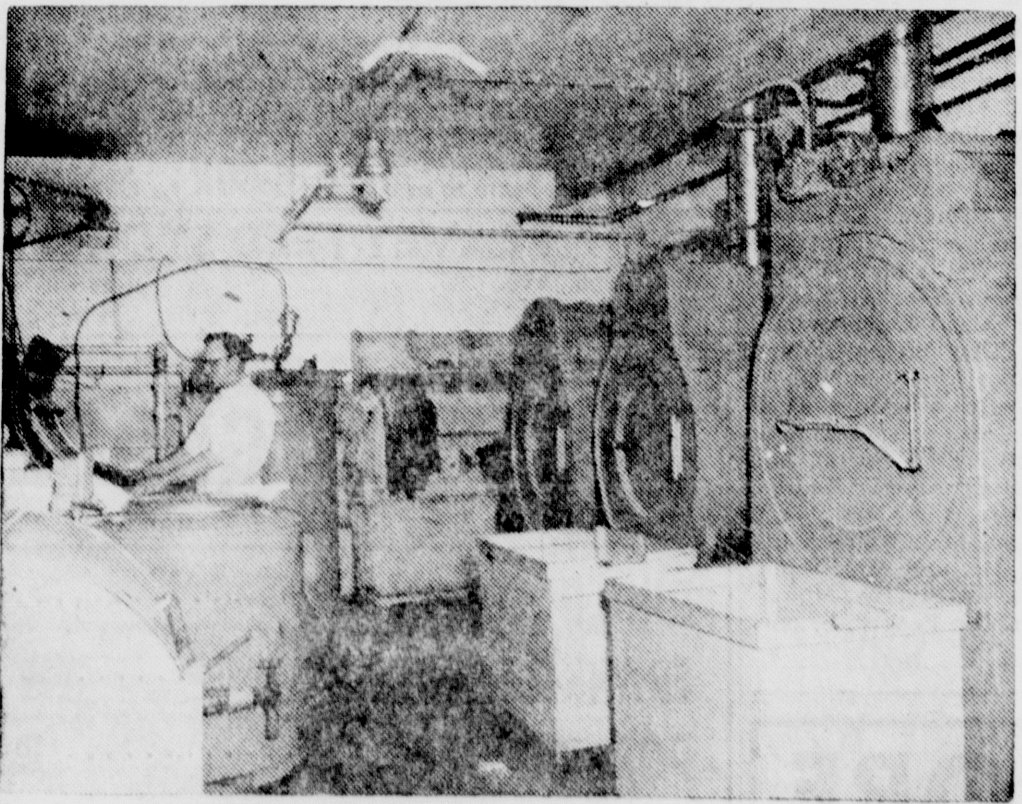

It's a lot harder to keep up with running expenses when you're a fast stepper.

Enormous Star Dwarfs Earth As Dust Speck

VICTORIA, B. C. — (P) — Scientists, with an assist from a 63-day eclipse, have measured for the first time an enormous star 150 times as large as the earth's sun. The figures they came up with make this puny earth a dust speck in infinitude's road.

The star is 31 Cygni, a double star in the constellation known as the swan. It's 650 light years away from the earth, a 16-digit figure in miles. (A light year is the distance light travels in one year at a speed of approximately 186,000 miles a second).

It has been known for some 50 years—a couple seconds, relatively speaking—that 31 Cygni was a double star. The two stars take 10 years and five months to circle one another, but it was not until last year that D. B. McLaughlin of the University of Michigan pronounced the theory that the large one might eclipse the other.

This summer, astronomers at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, working in conjunction with the University of Michigan Observatory, noted on Aug. 11 that the light of the smaller star was cut off abruptly. It lasted until Oct. 13.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the Canadian Observatory, said "the dense part of the large cool globe hid its companion for 63 days, although they were passing one another at a relative speed of 25 miles per second."

On the basis, it was established that the giant partner of 31 Cygni is at least 135 million miles in diameter, or more than 150 times the diameter of the sun.

Plans Submitted To Clear Korean Truce Deadlock

point Thursday. They agreed for the first time to take up point by point the programs each side has presented for supervising an armistice. Previously, they had insisted on discussing each plan as a whole.

The U. N. command communiqué said "the discussions which followed resulted in the reaching of understandings on only a few points."

The eight-point Allied plan provides that:

1. All hostilities cease within 24 hours after the armistice becomes effective.

2. Both sides withdraw troops from the 2½ miles wide buffer zone within 72 hours, leaving only police units.

3. A military armistice commission named by military commanders be responsible for supervision of the armistice.

4. The commission have authority to check at ground, sea and air ports of entry and communication centers throughout Korea. Members of the commission have freedom of movement over all principal lines of communication. The commission also be responsible for aerial observation and photo reconnaissance.

5. Neither side increase the strength of its forces, equipment, military facilities or materiel.

6. Within 72 hours after the armistice goes into effect each side withdraw ground, sea and air forces from territory controlled by the other side.

7. Each side be responsible for administering half of the buffer zone on its side of the demarcation line.

8. The armistice not become effective until the military commission is organized, staffed and ready to begin operations.

Neutral Check Favored

The Communists previously have objected strongly to provisions of points three, four and five. They insisted on inspection by neutrals rather than Allied-Communist teams. They wanted inspections limited to specified ports of entry, but have shied away from defining what they mean. The Reds also have indicated they would not approve aerial and photo reconnaissance. The Communists would ban rotation of troops or replacement of equipment and ammunition. The Allies seek only to limit the strength of armed forces.

Wage Board Approves Pay Raise In Copper, Lead And Zinc Mines

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) announced approval today of 15-cent hourly wage increases for a substantial proportion of workers in the copper, lead, and zinc mining and refining industry.

Companies affected are Kennecott Copper Company, Phelps-Dodge Corp., and American Smelting and Refining company and nine other smaller companies.

This gave government approval to recent wage increases for most of the industry.

The exception is Anaconda Copper company, whose applications for similar wage increases have not reached the wage board yet.

Youth, 17, Arrested In Wild Half-Hour Chase

A wild half-hour chase through alleys and streets in all sections of the city ended at 10:40 last night with the arrest of Donald J. Koish, 17-year old Escanaba high school student, charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile. Koish resides at 114 N. 24th street.

The chase started shortly after 10 o'clock when Public Safety Director Glenn Leonard and Sgt. Harold Finman, riding in a police car, spotted Koish driving a car which had been reported stolen several hours earlier. It was a 1951 two-door Ford, owned by Harold Winchester, 617 S. 18th street, stolen at 6:30 at the St. Patrick's church.

Skirted Road Blockade
When Koish noticed that the police car was trailing him, he speeded the stolen car and tried to shake off his pursuers. Leonard's car was not equipped with a police siren or a blinker light and the officers radioed to another patrol car to assist in the chase.

A police car with siren and blinker light, driven by Officer Joe Pryal, joined the search and took up the chase at Koish's rear. Leonard and Finman, maintaining contact by radio, intercepted the stolen car at four different intersections in the city, each time setting a road blockade, but Koish skirted the blockade each time.

At the intersection of N. 10th street and First avenue North, Leonard was nearly overrun by Koish. The safety director jumped from the path of the oncoming car to avoid being hit. Koish skirted the blockade car and turned east on First avenue north.

The chase continued for another 20 minutes, through alleys and streets, before Koish finally brought his car to a halt at the intersection of South 11th street and Ninth avenue south.

As Officer Pryal moved to arrest Koish, the latter jumped to the patrolman but was subdued by Pryal and Officer Johnson.

Fired At Tire

He was taken to the police station where he made a statement in which he admitted stealing the Winchester car at 6:30 o'clock. Koish said that he drove to the car to a meeting at the National Guard Armory and had intended to abandon it but was overtaken by the police.

Leonard issued orders by radio to the policemen in the chase not to shoot at the fleeing car. At the road-blockade, however, Leonard fired once at a wheel of Koish's car as the car passed the blockade. The bullet passed through a fender and would have hit the tire but struck a bracing.

Koish contended that he had not stolen any automobiles previous to the theft of the Winchester car last night. There were nine auto thefts in Escanaba in October, 15 in November and four thus far this month.

Women Sacrifice Gland Balance In Needless Surgery

LOS ANGELES — (P) — The child bearing ability and glandular balance of many American women are being sacrificed needlessly by the unwarranted removal of normal ovaries, says a Beverly Hills, Calif., surgeon.

Those attending from away were William Edstrom, Fox; Mrs. Maynard E. Lee, Arlington, Va.; Mrs. V. Howard Meeker, Nordheim, Texas; Edward N. Edstrom, Glendale, Calif.; and many friends from Fox and the surrounding area.

MRS. ANDREW LANCOUR
Funeral services for Mrs. Andrew Lancour will be held at the Anderson funeral home Saturday at 2 with the Rev. Karl J. Hammar officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

Records In 546 Cases
Dr. Doyle studied the records of operations on 546 women in the Los Angeles area during 1948. In each case one or both ovaries were removed even though they were normal or nearly normal. In some instances the womb also was removed.

Removal of normal ovaries is justified, Dr. Doyle said, if there are medical indications that serious disease might develop if they were not taken out.

But in many of the cases, he added, operations were performed when the symptoms indicated only minor or temporary ailments. In a few instances ovaries were removed when there were no symptoms of illness. Some of these few might have been justifiable, he said.

Whole System Affected
However, more than one-third of the diagnoses which preceded the operations gave "nebulous" reasons for ovarian removal, Dr. Doyle asserted.

In some instances the diagnoses which might have warranted removal were found to be in error after the operations had been performed.

Removal of both ovaries not only stops child bearing but also affects the system generally because these parts of the reproductive system produce hormones needed for glandular balance and well being.

Heavy Snow Disrupts Traffic In Nevada And Southern Utah

SALT LAKE CITY — (P) — A snow storm which swept through the intermountain states yesterday left highways dangerous, disrupted communications and power service, and resulted indirectly in two deaths.

Traffic on U. S. highway 40 between Wells, in eastern Nevada, and Wendover, on the Utah-Nevada line was held up by heavy snow on Panguitch Pass. Buses were delayed two hours.

Nearly a foot of heavy snow fell in Southern Utah. The sticky substance knocked down a mile of telephone lines near Nephi in Central Utah, cutting off communications with the south part of the state. Crews were working to repair broken power lines which disrupted electrical service in five southern Utah counties.

Power and telephone service was generally restored in Idaho, where lines were broken Tuesday by winds which toppled ice-laden trees.

Snow on the ground at Mullan Pass in northern Idaho was reported 61 inches deep.

Bankers Attend Study Meeting

Conference Held At Ann Arbor

At least 200 Michigan bankers will attend the thirteenth annual Bank Study conference at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor today and Friday.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Bankers' association and the University's School of Business Administration. A panel discussion of "Credit Casualties" opened the conference this morning in the Michigan Union, following a greeting from University President Harlan Hatcher. William Warrington of Escanaba is among the bankers in attendance.

"Evaluating a Bank's Public Relations Program" was the subject of a talk by William B. Hall, vice president of The Detroit Bank, following luncheon in the Union ballroom.

A dinner meeting, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. at the Michigan Union, will include an address by Frank M. Totton, vice president of the Chase National Bank of New York on "Some Vital Problems Facing Bankers in the 1950's."

Conference activities on Friday will be concentrated in the Michigan Union. Kenneth DuVall, president of Chicago's Merchants National Bank, will open the morning session at 9:45 with his talk on "Current Loan Problems from a Country Banker's Viewpoint." Arthur L. Olson, vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago, will follow with his discussion of "The Voluntary Credit Restraint Program."

A luncheon in the Union ballroom will conclude the conference. Paul W. McCracken, professor of business conditions in the University's School of Business Administration will take a look at "The Economic Outlook for 1952."

Governor Grabbing Too Much Glory, House Speaker Says

LANSING — (P) — Speaker Victor A. Knox of the House of Representatives today accused Governor Williams of "grabbing for personal glory" in recommending a $200,000 mental health hospital program.

Knox declared "The legislature is several jumps ahead of him." Knox, Sault Ste. Marie Republican, replied to a speech Williams made this week at Newberry outlining his recommendations to the 1952 legislature.

Knox said that in the last session the legislature provided $15,950,000 for plans and specifications for additional mental hospitals and presumably will provide additional planning money for other projects so there will be no lag in the program.

The legislature also, Knox said, authorized the department of administration, controlled by the governor, to obtain bids as soon as the plans were ready so the 1952 legislature would have all data ready on which to base final decisions.

"So far," Knox said, "I have seen no activity on that score from the department, which the governor controls. If there is a delay it will lie with the governor's office. I know the legislature is ready to act."

Knox declared "While Governor Williams talks about 'my recommendations' and 'my build Michigan program' the legislature actually is taking the steps and doing the work to accomplish the objectives."

"The mental health committee is meeting constantly on this problem. Governor Williams has had less to do with accomplishing these long-range objectives than any governor since the post-war victory program was inaugurated under Republican leadership in 1946."

Senator Insists Ike Will Be On Ballot In New Hampshire

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON — (P) — Senator Tobey (R-NH) said today "I guarantee" that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will let his name go before the voters in New Hampshire's presidential primary next March.

Tobey's flat statement that the General won't disappoint his Republican backers by refusing to be represented in that contest came amid new attacks on the Truman administration.

Senator Duff (R-Pa.), a leader of the organized Eisenhower-for-President Republican group, declared "The Democrats must be thrown out" of office in the 1952 elections, and he added that Eisenhower is the man who can assure it.

Scandals Reviewed
Duff set forth his views in a speech last night at an Eisenhower rally in Manchester, N. H. The senator said that under the Democrats' rule in Washington "the tax scandals, the milk coats and the five percenters have made an aroma that has reached to heaven and it has to be changed."

Referring then to the national Republican nominating convention to be held in Chicago next July, Tobey said:

"I will guarantee he will be in the primary," Tobey replied. Referring then to the national Republican nominating convention to be held in Chicago next July, Tobey said:

"I am confident Eisenhower will be available, will be nominated, and then will be elected in November."

Eisenhower so far has declined to say publicly whether he will be a candidate, or whether he is a Republican.

Mrs. Edwin Sidbeck Rites At Daggett

Funeral services for Mrs. Edwin (Goldie) Sidbeck, Stephenson Route One, Daggett township, who died December 1 at St. Joseph-Lloyd hospital in Menominee, were held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Strandt funeral home in Daggett with the Rev. Manistique Man Killed When Car Rams Into Bridge and one arm, and died instantly. A few minutes after the accident the Heinz car was struck by an Escanaba Taxi company cab driven by Neil Bougie, 119 First avenue south, also going east. No one was hurt and the taxi was only slightly damaged.

Retired Year Ago
Because of the distance between the car and bridge the crumpled body was not immediately discovered.

Atty. G. F. Johnson of Manistique drove up shortly after and continued on to Nahma to notify state police. An ambulance, on another mission, stopped and transported Heinz's body to Manistique.

Head of the former Heinz Lumber company, which a few years ago operated three camps and employed 300 men, Heinz retired a year ago and was disposing of his timber holdings. His trip to Marquette was reported to be in connection with a timber lands transaction.

Family Survives
Born in Germany on July 19, 1892, Heinz came to the United States in 1895 with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heinz. The family settled at Hunt Spur east of Manistique.

After working in lumber camps as a youth, Heinz in 1914 began timber jobbing at Hunt Spur and later built up the Heinz Lumber company. Besides the three camps, the company had contracts with a number of jobbers.

He was a director of the State Savings Bank at Manistique, a member of the Elks Lodge, St. Francis de Sales church, Knights of Columbus, and a former member of the Manistique Rotary club.

Surviving are his widow, the former Lula Clement whom he married at Hunt Spur 34 years ago; two daughters, Miss Betty at home, and Mrs. Ted Hentschel of Manistique; one son, Gerard.

Ruark Says:

Psychiatrists Mess Into Toy Business

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—It is possible that age causes you to oversimplify, in retrospect, but I never recall an unhappy Christmas. I had a doll, which was very small and did not develop into a sissy. Santa Claus brought me a little black boy who did a tap dance if you would him up. I do not believe that the color of this little jig dancer unduly influenced my adult reaction to my Negro fellow citizen.

I loved the punching bag, but did not go around slugging people. The air rifle was fine, and so was the hunting knife, and the bicycle, too, but to date I have shot nobody, cut nobody, nor engaged in a six-day bike race. In those days I had implicit trust in Santa's knowledge of a little boy's wants and did not figure that Dancer and Prancer, Donder and Blitzen, needed to lug along a psychiatrist in the rumble seat of Santa's sleigh.

Too Many Toys?

We see by the latest Life that psychiatry has now started to second-guess toys in relation to children. To quote: "Out of affection U. S. parents haphazardly shower their children with too many toys. But in the midst of plenty of play things a child is often starved for the few toys he actually needs." A couple of psychologists at Carnegie Tech have been busy for months second-guessing St. Nick in terms of what frustrates little vermin and what does not.

This is one field I should like to keep the soul feelers out of. What happens between Santa and the child is strictly business for Santa and the brat, and should not be subject to ratmazes, conditioned reflexes, and lithmus paper of the mind. We have managed to confuse and contrive every single other aspect of life—for the Lord's sweet sake let us keep the psyche peepers away from the red sled and the tears-crying doll baby.

And Then Live Dolls

I do not wish to know what the good doctors have determined by ratio of reaction to this or that stimulus in the way of roller skates or erector sets. Nor do I care to hear any baleful conjecture from the boys about the affection I had for my doll baby when I was four. I was real fond of this doll, even though I was a boy—and, as I recall took time off to beat the tar out of a contemporary cousin who sneered at my feeling for my friend, the doll.

It is very likely that this willingness to fight for the right to play with dolls connotes something exceptional in my make-up, but whatever it is I don't want to know about, or worry about. In time I graduated from inanimate dolls to animate doll, and went out socially with a dame for the first time at the age of seven. Took her to the movies, by golly, and bought her ice cream, and her name was Martha. At no time did mother hatred, mother worship, or father antipathy enter into the deal. You could just call me a guy who likes dolls.

Campaign Of Confusion

When this one was playing with whatever Santa dumped down the chimney, it never occurred to him that he was frustrated or unfriended. I banked away at the punching bag with no idea that I was belting the whey out of grand-mother. Just punching the bag. When I slew sparrows with the air-gun I was not working off a resentment at the kindergarten teacher. Just shootin' sparrows.

It does not seem that a child must be "helped" to play, as the psychologists put it. Let the little bum get along on his own with his rubber ducks. My old man monopolized a steam engine, once, that Santa had brought me, and I was sore for days. It was my steam engine. Let the old man go buy his own steam engine.

A toy for a child is anything that is out of routine, be it a raggy or a sack of candy. The happiest child I ever saw was a country kid who gravely informed that Santa had brought him "a crockernut and a orange." Coconuts and oranges were out of routine for him, yet monkeys consider them daily monotonies.

We have started a campaign of confusion against the human being, to where we enlighten him so heavily-handedly that he is a mass of conflict and complex from cradle to bier. My idea is that while he is young enough to get a bang out of a wooly pup or a set of blocks, let's not try to tell him what he wants. Let him tell us, even if he has to do it with gurgles and sign language.

Barkleys To Spend 5 Days In Hawaii

HONOLULU—Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Mrs. Barkley arrived in the summery Hawaiian Islands and a military band greeted them with "My Old Kentucky Home."

Barkley's military air transport plane landed at Hickam air force base.

Barkley, who toured Japan and Korea, planned to remain in Hawaii five days. He will speak at Punchbowl National Memorial cemetery on Friday, the 10th and

Iron Mountain Concerned Over Power Proposal

IRON MOUNTAIN—Keen interest in future operations at the Ford Motor company's Kingsford plant, recently sold to the Kingsford corporation, was reflected in discussion at last night's Kingsford city council meeting. The plant, the biggest industrial property in the twin cities, is Kingsford's major source of tax revenue.

The discussion was touched off by a spectator, George Roosen of 740 Hamilton, who inquired if the council proposed to do anything about reports, which the Kingsford corporation has flatly denied, that power produced at the Ford hydro-electric plant might be sold to the city of Escanaba.

Mayor Alfred Campbell explained that he was deeply concerned when he heard the reports and arranged for a joint meeting of the Kingsford and Iron Mountain city councils for last Saturday afternoon. He said he cancelled the meeting Saturday forenoon after he learned that the Kingsford corporation had denied the reports published in the Escanaba Daily Press.

Campbell said he had sought at all times to do nothing which would jeopardize relations between the city and the new owners of the plant and affect possibilities of maximum employment at the plant.

Councilman Rudolph Turk related that he had conferred with Campbell and recommended that the meeting be called off, inasmuch as the reports had been denied and there was no action the council could take.

Other councilmen said they had been concerned by reports that engineers representing the city of Escanaba inspected the Ford power plant last week.

Roosen told the council the Ford power plant was of vital importance to the city's economic welfare and suggested that a check be made with the Escanaba city council as to details of how the reports of possible power sales to Escanaba started. He pointed out that if the hydroelectric plant ever is for sale separately from the remainder of the industrial property, the city should be interested in purchasing.

Oas Serves 40 Years As Weather Observer, Miss Elliott Over 30

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—For more than 40 years, 83-year-old Albert Oas of Munising has been making daily weather observations for the U. S. weather bureau.

Winter and summer, through the worst kind of weather, Oas checked his thermometers and gauges and sent his daily readings to the weather bureau at East Lansing.

Oas and 22 other volunteer weather observers in Michigan received a "thank you" and "well done" today from the U. S. Department of Commerce. The Michigan volunteers were listed in a special volume issued by the department to pay tribute to their service.

"The weather observations gathered in out-of-the-way stations throughout the country add up to an invaluable body of information of importance to the commerce and industry, agriculture and defense of our country," declared Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer.

Began In 1911

Oas, who started as a volunteer in 1911, is dean of the Michigan weather observers. A native of Norway, he came to this country in 1889 and lived in Ishpeming and Lansing before settling in Munising.

Oas is known as "the grand old man of skiing" in the Upper Peninsula. He attended every championship skiing tournament there for more than 50 years and gave up skiing himself only eight years ago.

Three other Michigan residents have 30 years or more of service as volunteer observers.

George A. Schable, grounds superintendent of the State Military Reservation at Grayling, has been collecting data since 1918. Schable is the only one of the four veteran observers who ever missed sending in one of his monthly reports.

He explained at the time to the weather bureau that he fell in a lake while ice fishing and lost the notebook that contained all his readings.

Ralph Motley, a life-long resident of Greenville, has been an observer since 1919. Motley, 71, was a member of the Greenville fire department for 34 years before his retirement in 1945.

Adelle Elliott Serves

Miss Adelle H. Elliott of Fayette, Sack Bay, in the Upper Peninsula's Delta county, started as an observer in 1920. She is a descendant of one of the first white families to settle in the Upper Peninsula.

Her family was formerly in the lumber business. Miss Elliott, with two sisters, now operates a turkey and chicken farm.

Other Michigan observers cited for long service:

Carbonation Effective In Treating Sewage; Method Much Cheaper

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—A scheme for "carbonating" sewage like a soft drink to produce a cheaper method of water pollution treatment was described here by a Michigan State college engineer.

Dr. Clyde C. De Witt, director of the M. S. C. engineering experiment station, described the new method developed by the station to the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Using a process similar to that used in carbonating beverages, Dr. De Witt said the sewage removal process traps air in the waste water under pressure. When the pressure is released, he said, bubbles foam to the top carrying waste materials with them. Water remaining at the bottom is clear, he said.

Present settling methods are inefficient in removing oils, fine metals and fibers from waste waters. He said less space and equipment is needed to install the system in sewage disposal systems.

GARDEN—Church services at Garden are:
St. John the Baptist: Triduum of prayer beginning at 7 p. m., Thursday and continuing Friday at 7:30 p. m. and Saturday with masses at 7 and 8:30 a. m.
Adult education class at Marygrove at 8 p. m., Thursday.
Sunday masses at 8 and 10 a. m. Congregational: Sunday school at 10 a. m. Worship service at 4 p. m. Rev. William T. Matters, Minister of Education of the Michigan Congregational - Christian churches was the guest speaker at last Sunday's service.

Bridge Party
Mrs. George Farley entertained her bridge club Monday night and served a tasty lunch after play which resulted in awards received for high score by Mrs. Herbert Foote, 80 honors; Mrs. William Sweet, traveling prize and low score, Mrs. Fred Gauthier.

Home Extension Club
Mrs. Gordon McPhee entertained the Kate's Bay Home Economics club at her home Thursday night. Each member was occupied in making a Christmas gift. Delicious lunch was enjoyed after activities.

Postal Service Extended
Beginning Saturday, Dec. 1, residents living on roads radiating from town, namely Van's Harbor, two east roads, and connecting crossroad and two south roads and connecting crossroad, received rural mail delivery. To make this service possible, the mail carrier, Howard Pelletier, sandwiches this extra service between two trips to Fayette. Thus outgoing and incoming mail schedules for Garden and Fayette have not been changed. Mail is still taken out at 8 a. m., and 2 p. m., from Garden.

Because turning cars kill and injure hundreds of U. S. children during December of each year, the above poster has been sent to Michigan schools by Automobile Club of Michigan. It will be used on bulletin boards to remind youngsters to keep an eye out for autos which may not be able to stop short of crosswalks due to icy streets. In all, some 10,100 of the posters, 29,000 lesson sheets, and 10,000 coloring sheets stressing the "Watch for Turning Cars" message will be used in Michigan schools during December.

Number Of Jobless In Nation Increases

WASHINGTON—The number of jobless persons in the country for the week ended Nov. 10 stood at 1,628,000, an increase of 212,000 over October, the census bureau reported.

Even so, the bureau said, unemployment was still 412,000 under the figure for the comparable week last year. The decline in employment between October and November was attributed largely to season curtailment of farm work and other outside activity.

Total civilian employment was put at 61,336,000, as compared with 61,271,000 a year earlier.

Double Wedding Is Solemnized At Nahma Church

NAHMA — Father Thomas Andary solemnized the double ring ceremony at St. Andrews church in Nahma Saturday morning at which Peggy Ann Phalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Phalen of Nahma and Richard J. Depuydt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Girard Depuydt of Perkins; and Elizabeth M. Hruska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska of Nahma and Ivan G. Gerou, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gerou of Gladstone spoke their vows.

The main altar was beautifully decorated with bouquets of white and yellow pompons and white carnations, for the 10 o'clock nuptial high mass. Large baskets of pompons and carnations decorated the chancel.

The traditional wedding procession and recessional were played by the church organist, Mrs. Reginald Hebert. The music of the mass was sung by St. Andrews choir. Miss Corinne Bernier sang "Mother, At Thy Feet I'm Kneeling" before the mass and at the Offertory Gounod's "Ave Maria". When the brides placed their bouquets on the altar of the Blessed Mother, Miss Bernier sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother".

Brides in White Satin
The brides who were escorted down the aisle by their fathers were lovely in identical gowns of traditional white slipper satin. Their gowns were styled with a fitted bodice, v-neck, and long tapering sleeves tipped with matching lace, a full skirt ending with a court train. Their fingertip veils of French illusion were caught to tight fitting Juliet caps of lace over satin and edged with pearls. They carried arch bouquets of white callas.

Miss Delores Depuydt of Perkins and Miss Jeanette Deloria of Nahma attended Miss Phalen as maid of honor and bridesmaid. Miss Hruska chose Miss Judy Gerou of Perkins as her maid of honor and Mrs. Robert Hruska of Kalamazoo as her bridesmaid. The bridal aides wore gowns of the same design of French lace detailed with matching stoles and full skirts. The maids of honor wore deep sea aqua and they wore pink floral headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations. Miss Deloria and Mrs. Hruska wore pink salmon, blue floral headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of blue carnations. Judy Frasher of Escanaba, who is a niece of Miss Hruska, was flower girl and wore a floor length gown of satin detailed with yoke of illusion, fitted bodice, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt. She carried a basket of rose petals. Allen Depuydt carried the rings on a satin pillow.

James Tobin of Escanaba was best man for Mr. Depuydt and Mr. Gerou was attended by Mike Kolich also of Escanaba. Kenneth Depuydt and Robert Hruska ushered.

Mrs. Phalen appeared at her daughter's wedding in a grey gabardine and chartreuse ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. Mrs. Hruska chose a lilac crepe gown with black accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Depuydt wore black crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Gerou's gown was of royal blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Breakfast and Reception
The wedding breakfast for 50 guests was served at the Civic Center which was decorated in pastel shades and with bouquets of cut flowers. A reception for 300 guests was held there in the afternoon. Two three tiered wedding cakes topped with miniature brides and bridegrooms were at either end of the table when the buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Depuydt will make their home in Marquette where she is employed by the Retail Credit Company and he is a student at Northern Michigan College of Education. She is a graduate of the Nahma High School and Mr. Depuydt finished at the Perkins High school. At N.M.C.E. he is a member of Theta Omicron Rho.

Mrs. Gerou is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, Green Bay and has attended Michigan State College in East Lansing and Cleveland Business College in Escanaba. She has been employed in Green Bay as a secretary in the offices of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. Mr. Gerou graduated from the Perkins High school and is employed at Harnischfeger Company in Escanaba. They will make their home in Escanaba.

Wedding Guests

Among the out of town wedding guests were: Clem Tordure, Mrs. Anna Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frasher and daughters Judy and Barbara, Miss Berenice Firkus, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Vandenberg, and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Houston of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Gagnon, Leo Groleau, Mr. and Mrs. William Mercier of St. Jacques, Mrs. William Rice, Judge and Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. John Miller and daughter Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gorham of Rapid River, Mr. and Mrs. Adele Gerou, Mr. and Mrs. August Larson and son Junior and Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Babe Larson of Rock, William Gohert, Katherine Sheedlo and Barbara Denison of Marquette, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Casey and daughter Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lundquist, Mr. and Mrs. George King of Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Douville of Rhineland, Mrs. Libby Ackley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Irene Boynton of St. Ignace, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morrison and William Gouin of Isabella, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hruska of Kalamazoo, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tufnell and sons Robert and Tom of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Hruska and daughter Dianne of Kalkaska, William Hruska from Villa Park, Ill., Mrs. Lila Gerou, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Devroy and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grawey of Milwaukee, Joy Hogan, Eunice Vanderloop, Laurette Burke and Clarence Jirtle of Green Bay, Mrs. Bob Warner of Sturgeon Bay, Sylvia Gerou of Bloomington, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Londo, Mrs. Walter Olson and

Lansing Can't Enforce Street Parking Ban

LANSING, Mich.—(P)—Citizens can park on Lansing streets between 2 a. m. and 5 a. m., now without fear of a ticket. They couldn't in the past.

The city discovered Monday that while it can restrict parking, it must, according to a 1951 law conspicuously post restrictions. Posting of streets throughout the city would cost $100,000. City Attorney Charles Van Note said clean sailing for street washers and snow plows wasn't worth that much.

den home with her sister, Mrs. Judy Gerou and attended the wedding of her brother, Ivan Gerou.

His Fifteenth Cadillac!

Put a man behind the wheel of a Cadillac—and he's very likely to stay behind the wheel of a Cadillac!

Many and many a man is driving his fifteenth Cadillac—and it is not unusual to encounter an owner who goes far beyond that figure.

Naturally, a car must offer many things in order to have such an enduring hold on the affections of those who own and drive it.

It must be as faithful and dependable as a mechanical creation of its type can be.

It must be so pleasant to drive and so easy to handle that the hours at its wheel bring rest and relaxation.

It must be so beautiful and so highly respected that it is a compliment to its owner wherever he drives.

And it must be economical, both to operate and to maintain—for luxury brings a dual pleasure when it comes with no extra penalty in cost.

In short, if a car is to have such a hold on the regard of its owners, it must be a Cadillac!

If you have already ordered this distinguished car, and are awaiting its delivery, hold firm to your purpose—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire.

But if we don't yet have your order, better come in and see us today. The sooner you place your order, the sooner you'll have those many wonderful things which only a Cadillac provides.

Fly Paper Makers Get Stuck In Goo At Grand Rapids Plant

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — Employees of Tanglefoot Co., caught in their own trap, behaved like human flies.

Nearly 3,000 pounds of the gooey, sticky stuff that goes on fly paper oozed and dripped through the plant here.

A defective valve on a second floor tank permitted the compound to flow out onto the floor, inch deep.

Foreman Neal Van Dine got caught and fellow workers pulled him out of his shoes to safety.

Other workers struggled to freedom by laying cardboard and bags a step ahead as fast as a gummy foot was pulled free.

Company officials predicted it would be six months before the last traces of the stuff could be scraped away.

Contractor On First Concrete Road Dead

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — (AP) — The man who built the world's first concrete road, Robert Douglas Baker, 80, died here Tuesday after a heart attack on his boat.

The first concrete stretch he laid was in Detroit, on Woodward Avenue.

He spent 60 years in the road-building business in Michigan, invented several types of automatic road-building machinery, headed the R. D. Baker company and Michigan Asphalt Paving company, and was board chairman of the Peerless Cement company.

Note In Ocean Gets To Wife In 2 Days

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Paul Kremziz, a sailor in the merchant marine, put a letter to his wife in a bottle and tossed it into the Atlantic ocean off the Florida coast.

The bottle drifted onto the beach at Hollywood Fla. Dan Tannen saw it come in with the tide. A note in the bottle asked the finder to mail the letter to Kremziz's wife in Miami.

Instead, Tannen delivered the letter personally. Mrs. Kremziz got it just two days after her husband tossed it into the sea.

"We are passing by Miami in about three hours," the letter said, "and I shall drop this into the sea in hope that it may be found and delivered to you."

Russia Sends Back Two U. S. Icebreakers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two icebreaking ships which this country has been trying to get back from Russia since mid-1946 will arrive in Germany this week-end for transfer to the U. S., the state department said.

In July, 1946, the U. S. asked Russia for the return of three icebreakers turned over to her during the war. One was delivered in Japan in December, 1949. The Russians have been insisting the other two were icebound.

Finally last month they said the ships, the North Wind and West Wind, would leave shortly for Bremerhaven, Germany. Yesterday the state department received word they are due there Dec. 8 or 9.

Catholic Church Observes Feast Day Saturday

The Feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary will be observed in the Catholic church as a holy day of obligation Saturday, December 8.

At St. Joseph's church mass will be at 6, 7, 9, 10 (for St. Ann parish) and 12:10. The 9 a. m. mass will be a high mass and the Children's choir will sing.

St. Patrick's masses are at 5:30, 7:30 and 12:10. A change in the masses on the First Friday, tomorrow, has been announced by the Very Rev. Martin B. Melican, pastor, because of the funeral services for Miss Clarissa Hamm. Holy Communion will be distributed at 6:30. A mass will be offered at 7:15 and the funeral mass for Miss Hamm will be at 9. Worshipers may receive Holy Communion at the funeral mass.

The feast day masses Saturday for St. Ann's parish will be offered at St. Ann's chapel at 7 and 8, at St. Patrick's church (the children's mass), at 9, and at St. Joseph's church at 10.

The feast day honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary, who has been elected patroness of the United States under that title, has been observed in the Catholic church since the 8th century. December 8, 1854, Pope Pius IX officially recognized the belief of all Christians that Mary "was in the first instance of her conception, by a singular privilege of God, preserved free from every stain of original sin and that this fact has been revealed by God and therefore is to be believed by all the faithful."

As the feast day is a day of obligation members of the Catholic faith are required to attend mass.

NINETY-ONE YEARS OLD—Mrs. Joseph Schleis, sr., who is known affectionately as "Grandma" Schleis by neighbors and friends, observed her 91st birthday anniversary Monday, December 3, at her home, 508 South 16th street. Mrs. Schleis was born in Mount Calvary, Wis., has lived in Escanaba since she was 21 years old.

Christmas Seals Had Part In New Hancock Hospital

HANCOCK—When the new 105-bed Copper Country state TB sanatorium at Hancock opened its doors to the sick, Michigan people who buy tuberculosis Christmas seals could chalk up one more good deed.

Past tuberculosis Christmas Seal dollars sparked the drive to replace the wood-frame building used as a TB hospital for this area since 1912. Patients no longer will be "packed away like goldfish."

Around the State

As the 1951 tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale moved into its third week, similar samples of great good done were hailed around the state.

A pretty Irish colleen in Battle Creek said she owes everything to a Christmas Seal chest X-ray which spotted her tuberculosis. Now recovered, Miss Olga Craig, who came to America from Ireland in 1948, is engaged to marry Battle Creek lad. She called tuberculosis Christmas Seals part of "the miracle that saved my life."

To Charles Miller of Centerline tuberculosis Christmas Seals helped in a battle even a policeman couldn't win without assistance. A member of the Centerline police force, Mr. Miller, who spent 12 months hospitalized for tuberculosis, said, "A persons couldn't get far against this disease alone."

Reduce The Toll

And from the Howell tuberculosis sanatorium came a picture of tiny Ann DeMars, of Manistique, an "almost three year old," whose big dark eyes held a note of appreciation for all who buy tuberculosis Christmas Seals. Although she spoke not a word, in her childish way Ann conveyed the true plight of those nearly 5,000 Michigan people isolated from their families in Michigan sanatoriums this holiday season.

If tuberculosis Christmas Seal contributions are bigger this year, Michigan Tuberculosis Association officials said 1952 should bring continued reductions in the high toll of broken lives the disease still claims in Michigan.

Your Turkey!

By MARY MANNING

Make sure you have a perfect turkey. Order a FAIRMONT "Registered-Guaranteed" TURKEY now. I personally recommend and guarantee it will be the finest turkey you can buy or every cent you paid will be refunded.

It's moist! It's tender! It's meaty! Every bird is young, plump and broasted. Just what you want to make your dinner a success.

Ready to Cook
A FAIRMONT "Registered-Guaranteed" TURKEY saves you time and work, too. For your Fairmont Turkey is READY TO ROAST. It's perfectly cleaned, giblets wrapped separately and placed inside. Complete stuffing, trussing and cooking instructions come with every bird. All you do is stuff it and pop it into the oven.

And, now is the time to place your order with your grocer—to make sure you get the size you want—and to make sure you get a FAIRMONT "Registered-Guaranteed" TURKEY.

Don't depend on luck for a fine turkey. The less experienced you are in judging poultry, the more you need the assurance of the FAIRMONT "Registered-Guaranteed" seal.

Whatever you choose in poultry—a duck, goose, capon, chicken, or a turkey—it's a FAIRMONT, you know it's the finest.

Pennsylvania Pair First In National Bridge Tournament

DETROIT—(P)—A Pennsylvania pair, Mrs. George L. Rosenbloom of Marion Park and Sidney Silador of Philadelphia, hold the master mixed pair championship in the national contract bridge tournament.

They gathered 465½ points in the tournament that ended last night to take the crown from a field of 112 pairs.

Runners-up were Mrs. J. C. Fairchild of Dallas, Texas, and Edward Burns of Minneapolis with 461 points.

Then came Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Schwartz of Cleveland with 457½, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Solomon of Philadelphia with 457, and two pairs tied at 453½. They were the defending champions, Ruth Sherman and Peter A. Leventritt of New York, and Mrs. W. J. Albersheim of Asbury Park, N. J., and E. Marcus of Boston.

Detroiters Lead

Coming into the final session of the national men's team competition, today, three Detroiters, Harry Cohen, Irving Deuter and H. Sanborn Brown, teamed with Sam McCarthy of Buffalo, lead the field of 31 teams with 20 matches to their credit.

In second place with 18½ matches are Jack Denny and Eugene Dautel, Toledo, Ohio, J. Van Brooks and E. J. Smith, Jr., Detroit and the former football star Ace Gutowsky, McAllen, Texas.

Julius Rosenbloom, president of the American Contract Bridge league, Walter Herbert, opera musical director, and Dr. Richard Greene, all of New Orleans, and Maurice Levin of Newark, N. J., are tied for third place with Ronny Rosenberg and Fred Bickel of Atlantic City teamed with Joseph Foreacre and Robert Lattomus of Wilmington, Del., with 17½ matches each.

An eastern team composed of Mrs. Paula Bacher of East Orange, N. J., Mrs. R. C. Young of Philadelphia, Mrs. Joe Rosenfeld, Jr., and Mrs. E. J. Seligman of New York, and Mrs. Robert Bernstein of Miami is leading the 33 national women's teams with 19½ matches.

Bark River-Harris Senior Play Monday Evening

BARK RIVER—The play, "Mother Is A Freshman," will be produced Monday evening, December 10, by the senior class of the Bark River-Harris high school at William Kell auditorium at Wilson under the direction of Mrs. E. J. MacMartin.

Final rehearsals for polishing are in progress. Music will be furnished by a girls' choral group under the direction of Leonard Nault in a series of college melodies in harmony with the play.

The ticket sale is in full swing and committees are busy assembling scenery and properties. Advance sales indicate a capacity attendance.

Iowa Artist Honored With Modern School

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—(P)—The memory of the late Grant Wood, one of Iowa's most widely known artists, has been honored here. A new, modern school building recently was dedicated as "Grant Wood School."

Wood once taught art in Cedar Rapids. Seven Grant Wood drawings, made for the endpapers of the book, "Farm on the Hill," were presented to the new school by Mrs. Nan Wood Graham, the artist's sister. Mrs. Graham posed for some of his paintings including the well-known "American Gothic" and "Portrait of Nan." Wood died in 1942.

Santa Claus Will Be Here Saturday With Gifts For Children

Santa Claus is coming to town! He will arrive at 9 a. m. Saturday with candy and toys for the kiddies of Manistique and adjacent areas.

This information was received here Tuesday night by members of the children's Christmas party committee in session at the National Guard armory to make final arrangements for his arrival.

Members of the committee promptly advised the jolly patron saint of the Yuletide season that all plans have been completed for his appearance.

According to Santa himself he will reach here at 9 a. m., landing on the west side at the corner of Deer and Fifth streets. He will be riding in a sleigh hauled by three reindeer led by Rudolph with his shining red nose. The sleigh and reindeer will be on a truck decorated with green boughs and snow.

To enable as many youngsters as possible to catch that first, thrilling glimpse of him, Santa said he would come right down Deer street to River and Cedar streets, would proceed up Arbutus to Steuben, then to Oak and back to Cedar.

Gifts At Old Gym

He said he would then move up Cedar to Main and thence to the old gymnasium where he will "hold court" to meet all the boys and girls and distribute candy and toys. He will be seated upon a chair on a decorated dais with ramp approaches.

Youngsters will enter through the west door and the line will move through the building and out the east door on Maple street.

Members of the committee representing sponsoring organizations have announced that 500 pounds of candy packed in 2,000 red stockings will be distributed by Santa during the party. Each stocking also will contain a small toy.

Boys and girls of all school grades up to and including the fifth will be eligible to receive candy and toys. Kiddies from Manistique and all surrounding areas are invited to attend the party.

Committee Listed

The committee, made up of representatives of sponsoring groups, is as follows:

Fred Helman, Mrs. A. W. Heitman, Mrs. E. T. Lundstrom, Mrs. James McLaughlin, Clarence Peterson, Charles Burley, George Dorman, Capt. E. J. Doyle, Walter Nelson, Earl H. LeBrasseur, and D. M. Creger.

Dorman, Doyle and Peterson made up a special solicitation committee and LeBrasseur headed the group to arrange for the gymnasium and the candy and gifts. Doyle arranged for construction of the dais and ramps, assisted by other committee members. Mrs. Lundstrom and Mrs. Heitman will assist Santa Claus in the candy and gift distribution.

Dads Group To Get Charter

Presentation To Be Made Thursday

The Manistique unit of the Dads of Foreign Service Veterans will receive its charter at a meeting at the VFW clubrooms at 8 tomorrow evening, it is announced.

The presentation will be made by Lionel Mercier, VFW post commander, assisted by past commanders.

Organization of the local Dads unit took place about a year ago. The association provides an opportunity for fathers of foreign service veterans to participate officially in various veterans programs, and thereby be on par with mothers, sisters and wives of veterans in their various auxiliaries.

Fred Williams is president of the local Dads unit. Other officers are Leonard Parker, treasurer and Edward Maultaupt, secretary. Other charter members are Fred Bryant, Ross Collier, Henry Duquette, Lorn Harding, John M. Hewitt, Orlando Ott and John Schmidt.

Debate Tourney Here Saturday

Practice Session Opens At 9:15 A. M.

The second Upper Peninsula practice debate tournament will be held in Manistique Saturday, Dec. 8, with sessions from 9:15 to 12 and from 1 to 3:30. It is announced by Marvin Frederickson, Manistique high school debate coach.

"This is a practice tourney and regardless of the outcome all participating schools will be eligible to compete in the finals at Marquette on Jan. 10 and 11," Frederickson said.

The question to be debated is: "Resolved, that all American citizens should be subjected to conscription for essential services in time of war."

William Corson will be unable to take part in the tourney because he will be absent due to a naval cadet entrance examination. Other local debates are:

Varsity—affirmative, Laura Pizzala, Nicholas Babiadellis; negative, Mary Ella Giovannini, Jon Schuster.

Reserves—affirmative, Kenneth Dixon, Phyllis Garvin; negative, Carl Martinson, Robert Corson; negative, Beth Ann Viergever, Carol Heidebrand.

The public is invited to attend the tournament. There will be no admission charge.

VFW Auxiliary Makes Plans For Christmas Party

Plans for its annual Christmas party were made by the VFW auxiliary at its meeting this week. The party has been tentatively set for Dec. 22.

The committee in charge will include Mrs. Tillie Gould, Mrs. Eli Cousineau, Mrs. James Howland, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. Omer Morey, Mrs. Anna Noe, and Mrs. Henry Duquette.

The auxiliary also decided to sponsor its Christmas party for children on Dec. 15. Mrs. Chancy Hinkson and Mrs. John Vaughan will be in charge.

The meeting program also included the following reports: Rehabilitation work, Mrs. Frank Weber; Americanism activities, Mrs. John Vaughan; hospital work, Mrs. Marvin Mercier.

Mrs. Eli Cousineau displayed a quilt which is to be donated to a local needy family.

Brief messages on VFW post activities were presented by Lionel Mercier and Ivor Wilcock.

Mrs. Omer Morey was awarded the membership prize.

Lunch was served later.

Briefly Told

Choir Practice—The Ladies' choir of the Presbyterian church will practice tonight at 7:15 in the church. This is an important rehearsal.

St. Girard Circle—The annual Christmas party of St. Girard circle will be held tonight at eight o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Hoholik, Indian Lake. The exchange of gifts will follow the business meeting.

Drill Team—The Drill team of the Maccabees will hold its annual Christmas party and dinner at Paul Bunyan's Cook Camp Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Members are asked to contact either Mrs. Henry Baker or Mrs. Earl Cox for reservations.

Load Restrictions Now In Effect In Schoolcraft County

Load restrictions have been placed in effect on all county and state roads in Schoolcraft county except US-2, it is announced by Harold McNamara, chairman of the Schoolcraft county road commission.

Many county roads, because of an early freeze and a subsequent thaw, are in such a condition that overweight vehicles can cause them extensive damage.

Restrictions are temporary and will be lifted when cold weather again solidifies the road surface, it is announced.

Name Cowman Legion Head

Is Successor To E. J. Doyle

William Cowman was recently elected commander of the Manistique post of the American Legion of succeed E. J. Doyle, who resigned.

A meeting of all Legion officers, committee chairmen and executive board members has been called for 2 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 9, at the William Cowman home, 172 North Cedar street.

Other officers besides the new commander are:

James Sangraw, vice commander; Henry Powers, junior vice commander; John Grimsley, adjutant and finance; Eldred Linden, historian; George Dupont, chaplain; Oliver Edwards, sergeant-at-arms. Executive board members are Fred H. Hahne, John Larson, E. R. Monroe, Marvin Gray, Ray Opal and George Huber.

Lionel Mercier Given National VFW Appointment

Lionel Mercier, commander of the Manistique VFW post, recently was advised of his appointment as national aide-de-camp to National VFW Commander Frank Hilton.

In accepting the appointments, Mercier said: "I am indeed proud and pleased on receiving this honor. However, I have to accept it with a sense of deep humility, for it was not my works but the works of the members of my organization which brought this national recognition to me."

"This appointment will serve not as a reward for past deeds but as an incentive to work all the more diligently for those ideals which have made the VFW the great organization it is, an organization whose watchword for service is emphasized in its motto: 'Honoring the dead by helping the living.'"

City Cage Loop Is Reorganized

Midnight Friday Is Entry Deadline

Teams have until midnight Friday, Dec. 7, to enter the city basketball league, it was announced yesterday following a league organization meeting Wednesday night.

Five teams already have officially entered the league, the CIO, the CYO, Chevs, Gulliver and Garden.

A board of managers to supervise league play was approved at the meeting, with T. H. Reque, city recreation director, as non-voting chairman. Representing the five teams in the league on the board are Dewayne Gilroy, CIO; John Matthews, CYO; Fricky Lesica, Chevs; Ken Muthaupt, Gulliver; and Red Bodette, Garden.

A board of managers to arbitrate disputes, composed of Ray Ranguette, Jack Williams and Alex Creighton, also was established.

A 12-man limit team roster was set, with an entry fee of $1 a man. Ten dollars of the fee must be paid before the first game is played.

League play is slated to start at 8 p. m. next Tuesday evening, Dec. 11, in the old gym. Competition will take place each week from Tuesday to Thursday, inclusive.

Clubwomen Hear Meyland Discuss Women Novelists

Women writers have dominated the novel field since its beginning, Gunther Meyland, professor of English at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, told members of the Manistique Women's club Tuesday afternoon.

The speaker traced the development of the novel in England and America from its earliest form, pioneered by Aphra Behn, up to the present day when writers like Dorothy Richardson and Willa Cather still are outstanding.

On the program also were musical selections, an overture from "Trieste" and "Sparkling," by Janet Dixner.

The hostess committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. John W. Kelly served tea from a table attractive in its red and white decorative scheme. Those serving were Mrs. R. W. Jackson, Mrs. Scott Creighton, Mrs. Wm. J. Shinar, Mrs. William A. Corson, Mrs. Charles Slining, Jr., and Mrs. W. J. Bruley.

School At Pine Lake Described

Chapman Speaks At Lions Meeting

Pine Lake, the Michigan Veterans Vocational School near Dos-ter, Mich., was described to members of the Manistique Lions club Tuesday evening by Lloyd Chapman, assistant director, who is on a tour of the Upper Peninsula.

The school, with a current enrollment of 150 students, is financed by the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund and is administered by Western Michigan College of Education at Kalamazoo. Approximately 4,000 students have been trained for employment at the school since its organization in 1944, Chapman said.

The institution, primarily a trade school for handicapped veterans, is one of the most economical in the state for a student to attend. Subsistence cost, including everything except laundry and personal incidentals, is $35 monthly.

Mrs. Alan Walter will be the assisting hostess.

ly, and the tuition fee runs $50 monthly, the speaker said. The school is divided into nine departments which teach 18 courses. A minimum of book work is required, Chapman said, the student learning his trade by actual experience at the bench or machine.

The school also was open to disabled civilians from its organization until 1945 when an increase in veteran applicants eliminated civilians. With the falling off of veteran enrollment this year, the school was reopened to civilians again in March of 1951.

No academic requirements are demanded for entrance, Chapman said, but the school is open only to Michigan citizens.

The speaker described the campus at the institution, comparing it to a country club environment, and cited several case histories of disabled persons who received training at the school.

The school also maintains a job placement service, he pointed out, and the record up to last July shows a job procurement percentage of 95.6 since the institution was opened.

Depending on a student's ability, a course runs from six to 12 months.

Will Sponsor Home Contest

Lions Appropriate $50 For Prizes

Another Christmas lighting contest for homes of Manistique will be conducted by the Manistique Lions club, it was decided at a club meeting Tuesday evening.

The club appropriated $50 to cover prizes and decided to offer the same prizes as last year: First, $15; second, $10; and five $5 prizes.

A committee composed of Ernest Eckland, E. E. Cookson and Adam Heinz was placed in charge of the contest.

The group also decided to have an exchange of Christmas toys at its next meeting, and to present the toys to the welfare committee of the Manistique Women's club for the annual Christmas basket distribution program.

Several members also indicated that they would attend a dinner program of the Garden Peninsula Lions club at Marygrove Retreat on Dec. 13.

Five boys who were sponsored by the club at the November Older Boys Conference were guests at the session. Ray Lanier, spokesman for group, expressed appreciation to the club for financing their attendance at the conference. Other boys present were Edward Leonard, Robert Smits, David Heinz and Robert Boudreau.

Carl Olson, high school principal and local conference chairman, expressed his appreciation to the club for its support of the conference and said that many leaders who attended described it as the best youth conference yet held in the Upper Peninsula.

Former Resident Called In Lansing

G. Donnell Sigter, 37, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Sigler, of Lansing, and a former resident of Manistique, passed away last week in the Ingham county sanatorium where he had been a patient for 16 years.

He attended high school in Manistique and was on the school's debate team. His father was a practicing dentist in the community for several years.

Besides his parents he leaves a sister, Mrs. W. A. Foltz, of Battle Creek.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Lansing.

Pays $51.25 On Three Charges

Ohio Resident Had Michigan License

James Stine, who gave his last legal address as Dayton, O., paid combined fines and costs of $51.25 in local justice court yesterday afternoon on three counts of obtaining resident game licenses.

Stine was arrested in Germfask township yesterday by Conservation Officer Leslie Walstrom, of Seney, who charged that the Ohio man illegally obtained resident deer, small game and trapping licenses.

Stine pleaded guilty and was assessed fines of $10 and costs of $7.25 on each charge.

The small game and trapping licenses will be returned to him after he establishes a legal Michigan residence.

Father Of 5 Named Suburban Flat Rock Village President

DETROIT — (AP) — Granville Baker, 51-year-old railroad foreman and father of five children, is the new president of suburban Flat Rock village. Baker didn't seek the post. For that matter, no one did. But Baker's name was written in on 166 of the blank ballots distributed in Monday's election.

Rollin Stevens, an employee of the Ford Motor Co., and another sticker candidate, polled 96 write-in votes, and 28 other votes were distributed among 13 other candidates.

Although no one chose to run for the $60-a-year post, the election was ordered by Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien of Wayne county because it is required in the village charter.

King's Daughters Cook Book The King's Daughters of the Baptist church are compiling a cook book of favorite recipes which will be for sale on completion.

It's easy to prepare delicious apple rings when you're cooking bacon. When the bacon's crisp and out of the frying pan, pour off all the bacon fat, then measure three tablespoons of the fat and put it back in the skillet. Core but do not peel three red-skinned apples and slice into half-inch thick rings. Fry the apple rings in the bacon fat, sprinkling them with a little sugar and salt, until they're tender but still hold their shape.

Holiday Decorating Contest, Dec. 24-31

The Christmas home decorating contest will run from Dec. 24 to Dec. 31, it was decided at the Coffee Hour Tuesday afternoon. Judging will be done by a committee to be named by the Parent-Teachers association and will be done sometime during the week's period the contest runs.

Prizes will be awarded in five different zones in this year's contest, it was decided. The zones will be the four voting precincts in Gladstone and the village of Kipling.

Plans are going forward for the Children's Christmas party to be held at the city hall on Saturday, Dec. 15.

Funds with which to finance both the decorating contest and the party are now being solicited by Mrs. Allan Gillis.

Hearing Tests Start Friday

State Consultant In Charge Of Work

Hearing tests will be conducted in the Gladstone schools Friday and Monday by Mrs. Florence Poorman, hearing consultant for the Michigan Department of Health.

The tests were originally scheduled for Monday and Tuesday but the schedule was advanced because the work in other schools of the county was finished earlier than anticipated.

Tests scheduled are individual tests of pupils who apparently had a hearing loss as indicated in group tests made last spring.

If the tests show hearing loss, the child will be referred to a specialist for examination. Parents will be advised of the condition and asked to have the matter looked into.

Two More Attend Police Schools

Troopers George Craft and Ray Anderson of the Gladstone Post, Michigan State Police, also attended the special police school conducted at Iron Mountain Wednesday and today.

Approximately 70 per cent of cases of hearing loss can be corrected if found in time and given proper attention.

Mrs. Mary Swanson Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Mary Swanson, former resident of Gladstone now making her home in Evanston, Ill., with a daughter, Evelyn Swanson, celebrated her 76th birthday anniversary on Saturday, Dec. 1.

Open house was held from 2 to 5 with about fifty relatives and friends from Detroit, Chicago, Glenoche, Evanston and Escanaba attending.

Mrs. Reuben Swanson, Detroit, presided at the silver service assisted by Mrs. John Molin of Escanaba and Evelyn Swanson.

The table was centered with bronze and yellow mums arranged in a silver bowl, the gift to Mrs. Swanson from the Ladies Aid of the Evanston Covenant church. Completing the centerpiece were tapers in silver candelabra.

Mother-Daughter Banquet On Monday

A Mother and Daughter banquet is to be held at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Monday evening at 6. Members of the Men's club will serve.

Budding Arbutus Found In Woods

Budding arbutus was found in the woods along the Days River this week, it is reported by Mrs. Robert Axelsson, city. Mrs. Axelsson with Mrs. Gib Helgamo and Mrs. Axel Skoglund were walking along the Days River when they discovered the arbutus.

City Briefs

Mrs. J. Donald Grenfell was admitted to St. Francis hospital Wednesday noon.

Sgt. Donald LaCroix, of Fort Worth Texas is spending a 25-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William LaCroix, 1424 Michigan avenue.

Paul Gunderman On AP First Team; Bartley, Timler On Second Squad

DETROIT — (AP)—Five players on the first team, six on the second, four on the third and three honorable mentions gave the Upper Peninsula its greatest representation in history on the Associated Press football squads for 1951.

Escanaba's great offensive end, six-foot, three-inch Paul Gunderman, was honored with a first team berth, joining John Ganga, Iron Mountain tackle; Darrel Beland, Menominee guard; Jim Anderson, Newberry center, and Tom Taylor, Newberry halfback, on the first offensive-defensive squad.

Timler, Bartley

Drawing second team assignments were John Moerchen, Menominee tackle; Don Timler, Gladstone tackle; Herman Misuraco, Ironwood guard; Ken Hofer, Stephenson back; Joe Delden, Kingston back, and Casper Bartley, Escanaba fullback.

Placed on the third team were Tom Englehard, Ishpeming tackle; Albert Sandona, Iron Mountain guard; Brock Strom, Ironwood center, and Dick Christopherson, Menominee back. Receiving honorable mention were Dick Paquette, Marquette tackle; Jim Boggs, Newberry back, and Mason, Sault Ste. Marie quarterback.

The AP's class B, two-plateau all-state squad was selected by 250 coaches, officials and sports-writers. This is the 11th year the terminated between fullback and tackle and backed up the line. He was named to the all-state team as a back. He led Mt. Pleasant to an unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon mark in the North Central B conference.

His teammate, Ken Decess, took the other center nomination. Decess spearheaded the defensive squad. From the thumb area Cass City placed back Tom Schwaderer, an all-A student who in track was the upper thumb conference sprint champion. The speedster passed, punted, ran and played safety on defense.

Frank (Choo Choo) Kowalski of Battle Creek Lakeview was one of the few juniors to make the team. The 165 pound halfback's running style resembles that of Charley (Choo Choo) Justice, former all-America from North Carolina.

Kowalski gained 838 yards in 84 carries and scored 12 touchdowns. Dean Moore of Fenton and Gary Lowe of Trenton round out the backfield.

All-Around

Moore, one of the state's leading scorers, kicked off, punted, converted, passed, ran and played linebacker and tackle on defense. Lowe averaged 9.3 yards a carry, completed 23 of 54 passes and averaged 41 yards punting.

The other ends were Al Shebel, Marshall's 172-pound offensive and defensive ace; Paul Gunderman of Escanaba, named the Upper Peninsula's lineman of the year; and towering Harold Brooks of Manistee.

Filling out the tackle slots were John Ganga of Iron Mountain; Norm Masters of Redford St. Mary's unbeaten Detroit city champions; and John Colvin, 245-pound senior from East Grand Rapids.

The guards were 170-pound Bing Kollmorgen of East Lansing; Darrel Beland of Menominee; Frank Beckman of St. Joseph; and Bud Tompkins, Traverse City's stocky captain.

Snead's Record In Miami Open Is Threatened

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Sammy Snead's record 267 fired last year was in danger of falling today as a classy international field of 168 professionals and amateurs teed off in the first round of the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament.

After a heavy rain Tuesday, the municipally-owned Miami Springs course was reported in perfect condition and the visiting sharpshooters said some really fancy par-busting would be required to win the $2,000 top money.

Snead's 267 last year, which gave him the tournament championship for the fourth time, was 13 under par. Slammin' Sammy, who has a winter home in Miami, is back to defend his title, together with five other former champs—Frank Strannahan, Jimmy Demaret, Tommy Armour, Dutch Harrison and Miami's Steve Warga.

Commissioner Asks Tighter Control In Western Conference

CHICAGO—(AP)—Big Ten Athletic Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson today asked the Western Conference to stiffen its control of athletics.

Wilson said conference schools must make a "thorough reappraisal" of their recruiting rule and suggested it might be a good thing if there be "no contacts whatsoever" between universities and prospective athletes.

The Big Ten rule now permits a coach or his representative to initiate contact with athletes they are interested in procuring.

Wilson said the conference should also consider a rule requiring the various schools to approve any financial assistance given athletes.

Winter Meeting

Wilson proposed these controls and a complementary program to faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches in a prepared address at the Big Ten's annual winter meeting.

He promised "no equivocation" hereafter in enforcement of rules. He said that previously there had been enforcement failures but that now, with the aid of a special investigating agent, he is prepared to insist "upon absolute compliance

Savitt, Sedgman Battle Way Into Tennis Finals

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP)—Dick Savitt and Frank Sedgman battled their way into the finals of the Victorian championships today as America and Australia broke even in a "preview" of the Davis Cup challenge round.

Savitt, pounding the ball hard, trounced the Aussies' No. 2 player, Ken McGregor, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3. This was his third straight over McGregor during the past year and gives him permanent possession.

Vic Seixas put up a thrilling struggle against Sedgman, but finally went down by 5-7, 6-2, 11-9, 7-5 after two hours and 15 minutes of brilliant tennis.

A crowd estimated at 6,000 witnessed the two matches which might well be duplicated on first day of the challenge round at Sydney, December 26.

It was learned reliably today that Lannart Bergelin, Swedish ace still is having bad trouble with his injured shoulder and is unlikely to be in shape for interzone final starting a week from today. The U. S. is more or less being conceded victory under the circumstances.

Emeralds Have Rugged Weekend Assignments

MANISTIQUE—The Emeralds have a rugged basketball assignment for the weekend, meeting Gladstone here Friday night and traveling to Escanaba Saturday to take on the powerful St. Joe five. The Gladstone game is slated for 8:30, with a preliminary game between reserves of the two schools starting at 7.

While conceding that Gladstone will be rugged competition, Coach Robert Hussey is pointing his Emeralds for the clash with St. Joe, admittedly one of the most formidable cage teams in the Upper Peninsula.

Won Last Year

Last season Manistique fouled up sports predictions by defeating St. Joe, and the Emeralds also took a close one from the Braves on the local floor.

In its close twin victories over the American and Canadian Saults, the Emeralds were without the services of lanky Don St. John, who was injured in practice last week and may be unable to start in either game this weekend.

Tentative starters for Friday's game will be Lake, center; Hough and Ekdahl, forwards; and McNamara and Hinkson, guards.

FIRST ROAD GAME

GLADSTONE—The Gladstone Braves travel to Manistique this weekend for their first road game of the season.

Hard work has been the order of the week and Coach Eldon Keil has switched Martin Becker back to center and Harold Goodyer back to guard. The team has shown considerable improvement

Winter Sports Outlook Is Good For Wolverines

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP)—Football is just a faint echo on the Michigan campus today, dimly heard under the hullabaloo of assorted Wolverine combines readying assaults on the winter sports schedule.

Hockey and basketball teams have already started things off. The gymnasts, swimmers, track men and wrestlers are champing at the bit.

And here's the way things stack up for the coming season:

Hockey: Vic Heyliger's NCAA champions are once again a formidable outfit. With a brilliant sophomore goalie, Willard Ikola, a highly touted freshman forward, Doug Philpot, and half a dozen other replacements for such graduated stars as Gil Burford and Neil Celley, Michigan is expected to be as good or better than last year.

"Prospects are for a better team balance with lower scoring games this season," says Heyliger.

Basketball: Newcomers will tell the tale. Already newcomers Milt Mead and Ray Povachevich have edged into the starting lineup. Mead who scored 16 points for individual honors in the losing opener against Central Michigan, and Povachevich, star guard from East

Chicago, Ind., are only the first of the new bunch to force the old timers to the bench. Don Eaddy, a ball-handler deluxe with cat-quickness, Bob Topp, former Kalamazoo prep star, John Codwell, a lanky forward from Houston, Tex., Bruce Allen, Grosse Pointe and several others are yet to be heard from.

Consensus is that the club will take a little time to form but should be good about the time the western conference slate starts on Jan. 5 at Indiana.

Swimming: With some fine freshmen and sophomores ready, Coach Matt Mann, recently selected to coach the U. S. Olympic team, expects to improve on last year's third place finish in the league and 6-3 dual meet record. Ohio State and Michigan State still figure to be might tough but Mann is noted for edging his way into the Big Ten act.

Gymnastics: Coach Newt Loken is working mostly with sophomores and freshmen with Connie Ettl the only returning veteran. It's tough to work in this sport without proven experienced performers and so, it goes down as a year of rebuilding.

Wrestling: Like Matt Mann in swimming, Coach Cliff Keen is always a contender and with some promising new material to go with a solid core of veterans, the Wolverines are expected to make a big mark this season.

Track: Coach Don Canham expects to field a deep, balanced squad that should be rugged in dual meet competition but may fall short in western conference meet because of a lack of the individual stars necessary for the big meet.

Michigan State Hockey Team In 11 To 1 Defeat

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan's hockey team completely outclassed Michigan State for an 11 to 1 victory in a Midwest Collegiate Hockey league game last night.

The game was rough throughout with a major brawl the climax in the final period.

Michigan's John Matchetts, one of the two-goal scorers, and Dario Micoli of Michigan State both were banished after they peeled off their gloves and started a fist fight.

Officials tried to keep control of the game by handing out a dozen penalties in the first period but the final count was a high 24 penalties.

Michigan showed nice team play, riding the puck close to the net before trying to score. Other double scorers besides Matchetts were Earle Keyes and Pat Conney.

Steve Raz made the single Michigan State goal in the first period. Del Reid, MSC goalie, was peppered for 25 saves and Wil Ikola and Bill Lucier made 10 stops for Michigan.

John Bright Joins West Shrine Squad

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Four more players were added today to the West football team which will play in the Shrine East-West game in Kezar stadium here Saturday, Dec. 29.

The four brought the team to full strength.

They were Johnny Bright, Negro halfback from Drake university; Jack Jorgenson, tackle from Colorado university; Gerald Price, Texas Tech tackle, and Frank Simon, end from University of Nebraska.

'Shoeless Joe' Jackson Dies

GREENVILLE, S. C. — (AP)—"Shoeless Joe" Jackson, one of baseball's greatest hitters, died here last night. To the end, Joe had maintained his innocence of any wrong-doing in the 1919 world series scandal.

Jackson, 63, was one of eight Chicago White Sox players accused of accepting bribes to throw the series to the Cincinnati Reds.

Jackson, Oscar Felsch, Arnold Gandil, George Weaver, Charles Risber, Fred McMullin, Eddie Cicotte and Claude Williams were barred for life from organized baseball by the late commissioner Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Helped Youngsters
Jackson cited his acquittal of conspiracy charges in a Chicago court as proof of his innocence. A civil court later awarded him the unexpired portion of his salary from the Chicago Americans.

Joe owned and operated a liquor store in this textile city and helped youngsters hoping to make the baseball big-time. Several years ago a large following of fans who believed in his innocence staged a "Shoeless Joe Jackson" day and showered the old-timer with gifts and testimonials of their faith.

Joe played with the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland. The Indians sold him to the White Sox in 1915 for $30,000 and three players.

He had a lifetime major league average of .356 for 1,330 games. On the "Shoeless" tag was hung the him thanks to a story that he once played the outfield without shoes because of a sore heel.

Big Ten Meeting Will Begin Today

CHICAGO—(AP)—A four-day discussion of the various problems facing college sports has been lined up for Big Ten faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches.

The sessions begin today at the LaSalle Hotel. Observers believe prime purpose of the discussions will be to formulate Big Ten policy for presentation to the convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Cincinnati Jan. 9-12.

On the agenda for discussion are future television plans for football games, whether to allow freshmen to continue to play varsity sports, financial aid for athletes, spring football practice and football's free substitution rule.

House Of David Basketball Quint Plays Here Tonight

The bearded House of Davids, basketball's traveling quintet of world fame, appears tonight at the St. Joe gymnasium to play the Escanaba Harnischfeger independent club.

The main attraction gets under way at 8:45. Opening the program will be a preliminary between Al's Tavern of Escanaba and the Cooks Bombers at 7:15.

In a way, the preliminary will be a match between youth and age. The Escanaba team is composed of young cagers, recently out of the high school ranks. Cooks present a team of experienced veterans who have been campaigning for many seasons. U. P. Tour

The House of David team has been performing throughout the country for many years. George Anderson, manager and guard on the team, has been in charge of the quint since 1935 and has an excellent record of wins.

The visiting team is on a tour of the midwest states and is currently swinging through the Upper Peninsula.

The Harnischfeger quint was organized for the first time this year and is made up of capable local players. The team dropped a close decision to the Detroit Vagabonds in its first start.

U. P. Keg Tourney To Open March 29

GLADSTONE—The 42nd annual Upper Peninsula Bowling association tournament will open in this city on March 2, it was announced last night following a tournament committee meeting here.

The U. P. tourney will continue through May 11. Deadline for entry was set for midnight of March 2.

The meeting was presided over by B. H. Skellenger, Gladstone, president of the association. Jerry Merchart of Marinette was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the advisability of having a board of control to select future tournament cities. A future meeting will be called to decide the issue.

Benard On Committee
Tournament trophies will be awarded to regular team, booster team, doubles, singles and all-events in the tourney here. An all-events fee of $1 will be charged this year and all monies collected will be placed in the prize fund.

President Skellenger appointed the following tournament executive committee: Jerry Merchart, Marinette; Charles Polich, Caspian, and Alphenix Benard, Escanaba.

Attending the meeting were Skellenger, president; Floyd Vandaele, Gladstone, vice president; Walter VanDeWeghe, Gladstone, secretary-treasurer, and the following directors:

L. Ferzacca, Iron Mountain; Alphenix Benard, Escanaba; Jack Milnar, Marquette; V. Violette, Negaunee; Jerry Merchart, Marinette; Charles Polich, Caspian; Toddy Anderson, Norway; Orlando Bong, Iron River, and Eric Lehti, Laurium.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Left End Tom Fears, pass catching end of the Los Angeles Rams, will be ready for action against the Detroit Lions in their crucial National league football game here Sunday.

Fears got back into harness against the Chicago Bears last week after a lengthy session on the bench due to an injured knee. During that time Fears, who holds two league pass catching records, surrendered the limelight to his teammate, Right End Elmer Hirsch.

While still cautious about the knee, against the Bears Fears caught five throws for 68 yards, one a short one for a touchdown.

The knee has shown steady improvement this week, giving the Rams a dual and potent threat on the flanks.

Dead Veteran Brought Back To Life Fails To Regain Reasoning

LONG BEACH, Calif.—(AP)—Melvin E. Hewitt, 27, revived by heart massage 15 minutes after his death, has not regained his reasoning powers and may be transferred to a mental hospital if his condition does not improve.
Doctors treating him at Veterans' hospital said Hewitt's equilibrium is none too good but he can walk and eat normally.
The navy veteran's heart quit beating during a fight outside an El Monte, Calif., cafe Oct. 4. Physicians cut his chest open and massaged the heart until life returned.

RETURNS TO STATES

When the destroyer tender USS Bryce Canyon returned to the United States from Korea it was "home" again for Harry E. Wait, machinist's mate, second class, USN, of 327 North 16th street, Escanaba, after seven months duty in the Western Pacific. The Bryce Canyon operated in Japanese waters in direct support of UN naval forces engaged in the Korean campaign.

CHRISTMAS IN ITALY

While most Americans are making routine plans for the approaching holidays, John N. Copeland, fireman apprentice, USN, of 213 South 10th street, Escanaba, will be visiting Mediterranean seaports, including Milan, Italy, at Christmas.

The visits will be made aboard the fleet minesweeper USS Towhee, to which Copeland is assigned. The crew has already visited many inland European cities, including conducted tours to Paris and Rome.

FLEET EXERCISE ENDS

The full-scale mock war held in the Atlantic recently has ended for Duane R. Hamelin, hospitalman, USN, of 215 South 18th street, Escanaba, serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Kuhn Gulf. The carrier participated in Atlantic fleet exercises held in the Caribbean. All ships and squadrons have returned to their home bases or are enroute.

Sly Horse And Buggy Youths Get Away With Burglaries In Detroit

DETROIT — (AP)—In Detroit, of all places, two men have been arrested for a series of "horse and buggy" burglaries.

Detectives John Sly (that's his real name) said Sam Hill, 18, and Gary Lawler, 17, confessed to 60 burglaries—of garages. Each, Sly said, was accomplished with a horse and wagon.

Different colored horses were rented from various junk wagon operators for the burglaries, Sly said, in an attempt to confuse police. It did for months as the pair spread operations over a third of the city.

Sly and Detective Robert Transue gave Mrs. Oliver Lutz, a 35-year-old housewife credit for breaking the case. Mrs. Lutz looked out her window Monday and saw two "junk men" carrying stuff out of her garage. She went right out and told them to put that nice water heater back where they got it.

Instead, they leaped into their wagon, lustily whipping dobbie into a gallop. Mrs. Lutz ran and called police, who overtook the wagon in a vehicle that made Detroit famous.
